REAL ESTATE

T. D. Murphy, real estate broker, 402 Centre street, sold at public auction Oct. 31, the estate of the late Michael Ryan, Adams street. The price obtained was $382 over assessed valuation.

On Tuesday Mr. Murphy had final papers made for the estate of William P. Wallace, Ashmont avenue, an out of town party being the purchaser.

Waltham Seaside Theatre—A better vaudeville show has never before been presented at the Seaside than the one now making good, and which comprises three dashing acts with an eloquent baritone vocalist for the illustrated songs in addition to the attractive and interesting Moving Pictures. The Mansfield Brothers are giving a remarkable exhibition of sharp shooting. This act is a half-raiser and the most daring that has ever been seen on the vaudeville stage. The Imperial Boys, six singers and dancers, attired in natty white uniforms, present a high class act, and their dancing is a revelation to theatre-goers. Mayo and Rowe, the only vaudeville team that has been engaged for a prolonged stay at the Seaside, are playing a one-act comedy drama, "A Quiet Luncheon," which is a good remedy for the "blues." James Tracey, a cousin of the famous "Sandy" Chapman, is singing the illustrated songs and he is sure to be a pleasing number.

TREMENDOUS VOTE

Taft Has Over 2500 Plurality

Large Majorities for All Republican Candidates

Election day last Tuesday was ideal. Republican weather and the voters turned out in this city in unprecedented numbers, casting a total of 5,669 ballots in a registration of 6,687, or over 85 per cent, as against 87 per cent for the past two presidential elections.

The voting was unusually heavy in the early morning, with seven with a registration of 6,685 having cast over 400 ballots at 9:30 o'clock.

The result is a splendid triumph for all the Republican candidates. Taft and Sherman receiving a plurality of 2,584, as compared with 1905 for Roosevelt in 1904 and 1906 for McKinley in 1900. Draper has a plurality of 1,696, as Mr. Vahey ran exceptionally well in this city, with a total of 1,864 votes for governor, as against 1,815 for senator last year. It was hardly expected that Mr. Vahey would equal his senatorial strength, and his total is a great surprise to the political experts. Congressman Weeks, always popular, proved himself a splendid vote getter this year with a plurality of 2,566, compared with pluralities of 2,150 in 1906 and 2,296 in 1904. Captain Weeks' plurality in the district is 12,416, as compared with 3,357 in 1906. Judge Mulligan received the smallest plurality of any of the Republican candidates, with 1,363, Hall increasing the Vahey vote of last year by 112 and Mulligan leading Dennison's vote of last year by 349. Judge Mulligan's plurality in the district is 1,393.

Representatives Elias B. Bishop and William F. Garcelon are returned with large majorities. Mr. Bishop receiving a total of 3,690. Mr. Garcelon 3,683, and Alderman Howard P. Converse, who succeeds Representative Lothrop, had 3,687. The Democratic candidate didn't have even a "look in," Goyash receiving 974, while Chairman O'Connell of the city committee polled 1,177.

Councillor Seward W. Jones had the largest Republican plurality of any candidate, voted for in a district larger than the city, with 2,637, and is handsomely endorsed for a third term.

One of the interesting incidents of the day was the voting of Hon. Frank Hitchcock, Republican national committee chairman, who made a special trip from New York to cast his ballot in Precinct 2 of Ward 8. Mr. Hitchcock registered from the home of his cousin, Mrs. Swan Hartwell, Temple street, West Newton, and he was met at the railroad station by Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell and cast his vote at 7:30 o'clock. After taking breakfast with the Hartwells, Mr. Hitchcock left in time to take the 10 o'clock train back to New York. Mr. Arthur P. Luke, whose home is on Prince street, West Newton, but who is staying in New York for the winter, was another citizen who made a special trip from that city for the purpose of voting.

The election machinery was in splendid order and the balloting proceeded without a hitch. The returns were considerably delayed in reaching City Hall, that of the Newton Highlands precinct being the last to arrive at 1:35 Wednesday morning. Precinct 3 of Ward 5, the Waban precinct was the first to reach City Hall at 7:15, while the south side precinct of Newtonville kept up its usual standard of quick counting. This precinct is about the average size for the city and has for many years been among the first to reach City Hall, frequently beating out the smallest precincts.

district of which Boston is the commercial center, an unrivaled achievement in metropolitan transportation. The big tube will certainly be one of the sights of the town for many weeks after it is opened, for there are few people living within a radius of fifty miles or more from the Hub who will not sooner or later personally examine the fascinating and picturesque details of this stupendous engineering project.

SAVING MONEY

A System Which Will Appeal to New England Thrift

Extraordinary opportunities for saving money are now being presented by the best stores of greater Boston, which, during the past five years, have been sharing the profits with their cash customers by means of a discount through the system of Legal Stamps. A feature of stamp giving has been a double stamp day every week, which has developed to such an extent that customers have been unable to obtain proper service. Congested delivery has frequently caused annoyance also. The arrangement just inaugurated will do away with these troubles, and now, instead of double stamps one day a week, double stamps will be given every forenoon from the opening hour until twelve o'clock noon. Coming as it does so opportunely at the beginning of the fall season, this splendid offer of five per cent discount on all cash purchases every morning will enable customers to fill several books before the holidays, and the pleasure of Christmas season will be greatly enhanced by the realization that a generous giving of presents has been no drain on the family purse, but was taken care of by a little thrift in the matter of watching for the discount with every cash purchase.

To be sure, a Legal Stamp with the value of one-quarter of a cent is a small item, but this is an age of little things, and when you realize that $75,000.00 is paid each month in the redemption of these little cash vouchers, you begin to appreciate that you lose something, at least, in not collecting. If you do not get Legal Stamps every time you pay money you are leaving part of your change. You are certain of reward for any effort you put into this collecting, because Legal Stamps are redeemable in any quantity for cash.

You should read the collector's book in which your stamps are pasted for information regarding the system and then you will not be imposed on by persons who make it their business to travel from house to house endeavoring to get Legal Stamps from the public for less than their real value.

FOOTBALL

The Union A. C. beat the Glendale team, who had defeated them for the first time in five years, the week previous. At the end of the first half neither side scored. With two minutes to play, Kelly, Union's left end, got the ball on a fumble on Union's four-yard line, and ran the length of the field for a touchdown. Then he kicked the goal, while Maguire held the ball, the score then 6 to 0. Besides Kelly, Newcomb, Hennessy and Mack and York played best for Union, while Jacques, Grant and Drennan excelled for Glendale.

York, Union's star right end, was in the game Saturday for a while, although his arm pained him considerably.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Wednesday of last week Newton went to Southboro, where they played the strong St. Mark's school team, winning 5-0. St. Mark's was much heavier than Newton, and it was only through Newton's fine playing that they were able to win. The score was made in the first half on a side kick by "Back" Donahue, which was received on St. Mark's three-yard line by Beatty. The ball was then carried over the goal line by a straight line plunge by Allen. Capt. Van Tassel missed the goal. Twice during the game Newton came near scoring, but the weight of the other team stopped them each time. The playing of Newton's ends, Barrows and Beatty, were in a large way responsible for her victory.

Last Tuesday Newton held her final practice game before the Waltham game. She played a team composed mostly of N. H. S. graduates and neither team scored. Saturday is the big annual game with Waltham at Central Park, Waltham, and Newton's chances of victory are unusually good.

Put the lid on that peck of trouble.

Lower Falls.

—Hiram B. Meyers recently secured a large number of flower plants from Norumbega park for distribution among the children of this village. Rev. P. H. Callahan, pastor of St. John's church, has now secured about 150 flower pots suitable for holding the plants, which he has ready for distribution among the youthful horticulturists.

—A committee of well-known residents of the Lower Falls has been formed for the purpose of providing lectures on hygiene and other subjects of interest to the residents of this vicinity. The committee comprises Hiram B. Meyers, Rev. P. H. Callahan, Mrs. George C. Folsom, Benjamin Curtis, Mrs. Frederick C. Leslie and Miss Theresa Lally. The lectures will probably be given in the Cedar street schoolhouse.

A Few Facts About Hood's Milk

You can practice economy without sacrificing quality in providing for the table by reducing the amount of animal foods and substituting HOOD'S MILK, which furnishes all the nutrition necessary for health and strength at a far less cost.

A PERFECT MILK IS A PERFECT FOOD

HOOD'S MILK is tested for its palatability by an approved hygienic method. It is also tested daily for wholesomeness and richness in our Chemical and Bacteriological Laboratory. Its handling is kept under constant surveillance by medical experts. Do not accept a substitute. Insist on getting what you ask for and be sure to ask for HOOD'S MILK. It is PURE, CLEAN and SAFE, and has stood the test of sixty-two years. Criticisms and suggestions will be gratefully received.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Social Science Club held its first meeting of the season at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning, November 4th. The greater part of the morning was occupied with routine business and reports of committees. The club voted to adopt the recommendation of the Philanthropic committee to give $200 to the Newton Hospital and $200 to the Nonantum Day Nursery as its philanthropic work for this season. Reports or rather impressions of the Ninth Biennial were given by Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, Mrs. Justin Whittier and Miss Grace M. Burt. Mrs. L. S. Drake spoke of a recent trip through the Canadian Rockies to California.

The Newton Mothers' Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. E. K. Hall of Beaumont avenue, on Monday afternoon, Nov. 2nd. "Stories from Greek Mythology" was the subject considered, papers being presented by Mrs. Andrew Woods and Mrs. D. G. Wing. Miss Rosalind Kempton presided. Very acceptably several violin selections. A social hour and tea closed a delightful afternoon. In January the club is anticipating a rich treat. Mr. Wyche, president of the Story Tellers' League, will tell the story of Ulysses. Mr. Wyche has the endorsement of such men as G. Stanley Hall.

The first regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was held on Tuesday afternoon at the New Church parlors. The entertainment was in charge of the musical committee, Mrs. D. E. Baker, chairman, and was not less enjoyable than former musicals arranged by this committee. The artists were: Mrs. Louis Ross, soprano; Mrs. Arthur Jones, contralto; Mr. Charles Wood, tenor; and Miss Rosalind Kempton, violinist.

A class in Current Events has been formed by the Newtonville Woman's Guild. Mrs. May Alden Ward will give a course of ten lectures open only to Guild members, the first to occur on Thursday morning, Nov. 12, at 10.30 at the New Church parlors.

The first monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was held on Oct. 29. A musical program was presented by the following artists: Miss Lucille McCosville, violinist; Mr. Nelson Raymond, baritone; Mr. Philip Dallinger, accompanist. After the music a reception was given the new officers: Mrs. H. H. Kendall, president; Mrs. W. E. Shedd, Mrs. C. L. Smith, vice-presidents; Mrs. A. M. Fowle, recording secretary; Miss E. T. Mills, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. L. Harwood, treasurer. The next meeting will be on Thursday, Nov. 12, at 10 a. m., when Dr. Richard C. Cabot will speak on "Foregrounds and Backgrounds in Work for the Sick."

A conference of Clives committees of the State Federation will be held on Wednesday, November 11, at 2.30 at Perkins hall, Boston. All clubs interested in clives are invited to send delegates.

The Plerian Club met with Mrs. L. P. Everett, High street, Wednesday, November 4th. Each member read an article on some current event, as that was the topic for the afternoon. Miss Viola Doyle played the piano selections, which were well appreciated.

The opening meeting of the Waban Woman's Club was held on Monday afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. Josephine K. Crain. Reports of the recent Biennial Convention were given in a very able manner by several club members. Songs by Mrs. Helen Parker LeClair and piano selections by Mrs. Annie T. Hill completed the afternoon's program, which was well received by the hostess. The club starts with its full quota of members and everything points to a very successful year.

A meeting of the Auburndale Review Club was held in the chapel of the Congregational church on Tuesday morning, Nov. 3. After the usual business meeting, Mr. Franklin H. Wentworth, the Socialist, gave a lecture on "Individual Development Through Socialism." It was intensely interesting and led to a lively discussion of the subject. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Thordike, 45 Islington road, on November 17.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE FEDERATION

The Autumn Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation was held at Bridgewater on Tuesday, November 3, by invitation of the Ousemequin Club. A large delegation of club women, nearly filling five cars left Boston on the 8.43 train to attend the meeting. At both sessions the auditorium of the Congregational church was taxed to its utmost capacity.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Miss George A. Bacon, who presented Mrs. George M. Webber, the president of the hostess club. Mrs. Webber in her greeting explained that the name of their club, Ousemequin, was the name of the Indian from whom the early settlers of Bridgewater had purchased their land. While their club has been chiefly cultural in its aim, it has also inaugurated a stamp savings station for the school children, has started a visiting nurse association and done other work for the community during the ten years of its existence.

In her response, Miss Bacon voiced the pleasure of the guests at being in Bridgewater on so fine an autumn day. After a few items of business and announcements, the directors of the $30,000 surplus from the Biennial Fund was presented for consideration and action. A recommendation from the executive board that it be added to the Bazaar Fund of the Federation was read by the secretary. Upon the motion of Mrs. Donald M. Blair, president of the Women in Council, Roxbury, it was voted to postpone action until the annual meeting of the Federation in order that the clubs might have more time to consider the matter.

In presenting the subject of the meeting, Household Economics, Miss Bacon said that only once before had the Federation devoted a whole meeting to the consideration of the home and then from an entirely different standpoint from the one to be treated at this time. Mrs. Margaret J. Blair of St. Paul, director of the Domestic Art Department of the Minnesota State Agricultural School, was then introduced and gave a suggestive address upon "Home-Making as an Art."

Mrs. Blair said in part as follows: There has been a deflection of interest from home-making—also largely to club influence and the new sense of responsibility for things outside the narrow sphere—formerly supposed to be within woman's particular domain. But now women of clear vision have begun to grow homes in their houses. Every woman is beginning to realize the beauty, the dignity, the breadth of opportunity home-making offers and also the irksomeness and very poor results gained when these responsibilities come to untrained women.

We know that everything pertaining to the home depends upon the capacity and training of its manager. We have always had fine house-keepers, but until recent years no definite science of house-keeping. I have mentioned that Household Economics is finding a very important place in the curriculum of the western college—so that the woman of the future with her multiplicity of interests will bring to the task of home-making, head and hands fully fitted to perform these essentials intelligently and quickly and still leave her time for other things.

In Colonial times housewifery was regarded as a career, but later on there came a reaction and to know how to do the common things of the household was looked upon as beneath a lady, but another reaction has set in and it has become the fashion to know how to do useful things; in short, home-making has become a vocation. Household economics has been introduced into the public schools. The industrially educated girl is able to plan every detail of her home—from its location, architecture, sanitation,—to its minutest detail.

There has been much said recently about the "business imagination," a housekeeping imagination is just as necessary. The woman of imagination and originality makes the best housekeeper.

The great need for good training in household economics is not alone an essential for the woman who performs the duties herself, but for the one who depends upon maids, for without such training she cannot competently direct them.

When the American serving maid enters a house, the real home is very apt to fly out of the window. And why? She is a being despised, as a rule, and too often she deserves to be despised. But where, again, does the fault lie? If we despise the office of cook, we shall be sure—sooner or later—to confuse the office with the person, and the outcome will be that we shall despise the cook. As cook we shall not concede her a personality. This disease has spread its virus through practically all classes. In America there is as yet little household service in the truest sense of the word. There is labor, bought and paid for, but it is in little of the spirit of service.

New methods in industrial education are the result of a recognition of the fine opportunity her home affords for the use of all her gifts, and really, so soon as women generally realize what a very interesting thing house-keeping is, a different attitude toward it will set in. Every life has its so-called elements. There are pots and pans—if I may call them so—in every vital endeavor. Even the writing of books and the painting of pictures have their dishwashing moments, and those of you who have tried to get worthy bills through the legislature will agree with me that the high vocation of public reformer has its so-called side.

The last era in education was the era of the specialist, but even now that is passing, and the value of a broader training is urged by the best educators. Especially is this broader training desirable for women, and, if women specialize at all nowadays, they are apt to specialize in being a woman, with all her arts and sciences in a subjective place.

Discussion of Mrs. Blair's address was opened by Mrs. Eliza J. Bates, chairman of the Household Economics Committee of the State Federation. She answered the special question, "Why the clubs should study this subject?" and announced a course of eight lectures which her committee suggests as helps to the clubs in arranging programs. Miss Sara E. Loughton, principal of Howard Seminary, spoke of Courses in Household Economics in Schools and Colleges. Mrs. Harriet A. McDonald of the Chelsea Woman's Club spoke of "Theory versus Practice." Mrs. McDonald was of the opinion that there is danger of too much theory, of overtraining, and a neglect of the part given to common sense. Theoretical training seldom prepares for an emergency. Over training destroys individuality. We should not sink the individuality in the training, but add to it a large cup of common sense and flavor with individuality. Following this formal discussion the many ladies from the floor contributed points of interest and drew out much more valuable information from Mrs. Blair, who went into detail concerning her own particular school work.

ANNUAL SHOOT

The annual shoot between the Clavin Guard Veterans' Association and the active company takes place tomorrow afternoon on the company's range in Needham.

Six thousand miles of travel and the loss of ten days of valuable time is the price H. E. Huntington, a business man of Los Angeles paid for the privilege of voting for Taft. Mr. Huntington left Los Angeles last week for Oneonta, N. Y., which he reached just in time to register. The necessity for prosperity is the reason given by Mr. Huntington for making the long trip. The fear of Bryan, he said, should make every business man in the country take pains to cast his ballot for Taft.

COUSEN'S BLOCK CARNIVAL

Every citizen of Newton ought to take pride in the manner in which Newton Centre residents support any matter of civic improvement. For some years, I have always felt a great satisfaction in recording the proceedings at Newton Centre. Its people, somehow or other, always give you an impression of loyalty and enthusiasm, which ought to be emulated in other portions of the city.The latest matter to interest our south side neighbors is the purchase of the Cousen's Block property, with a view to making it a public park, and changing it from an eyesore in the village, to an attractive part of the landscape. The Newton Centre Improvement Association, which is the main spring of all these efforts to beautify that village, has been long at work on the project and has received substantial subscriptions towards the amount to be raised. The city has agreed to contribute a goodly sum and the Carnival, which was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was to raise money to complete the transaction.The carnival consisted of a Pop Concert on Tuesday evening, a whist party on Wednesday evening, a children's entertainment on Thursday afternoon and a Vaudeville show on Thursday evening.The Pop Concert brought out an attendance which crowded Bray hall to the doors. The floor was filled with tables and chairs, and ice cream, cake and soft drinks were served by the most attractive young girls
in the village, dressed in white, with white bows in the hair. Lads dressed in white Turkish costumes with a red fez, passed thru the crowd selling cigars to every one who had the price. Booths were erected at the sides of the hall, decorated with sheaves of wheat, bright poppies and other flowers, from which cigars, candy, flowers and drinks which had been approved by Mayor Hutchinson, were sold. Representative Elias B.
Bishop, in the full regalia of a member of the Bartenders' Union, was the presiding genius of the bar.On the stage, a full orchestra with Albert M. Kramich as conductor played delightfully from a program which allowed request numbers to be selected, and their music was roundly encored.Mr. Charles Copeland, the village artist, made crayon sketches from time to time and his efforts were greatly appreciated by the crowd.General James G. White and Hon.
J. M. W. Hall announced the election returns during the intervals between the music. The fun was kept up until midnight and was a tremendous success, highly creditable to the committee in charge.The whist party on Wednesday evening was attended by nearly a hundred players, most of whom preferred bridge to straight whist. Ten prizes were awarded, three to straight whist, won by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Risling and Mrs. O. W. Walker, and seven at bridge, won by Mrs. Thomas Booth, Mrs. J. W. Cullen, Mrs. S. H. Mitchell,
Miss Plimpton and Messrs. E. B. Stratton, H. G. Brinckerhoff and C. S.
Wing. The prizes were of cut glass,
china, copper and other bric-a-brac.
During the evening ice cream, cake, candy and flowers were sold from the booths.The children's entertainment yesterday afternoon was another success,
the hall being completely filled with a delighted audience. Mr. Degen'ssongs were applauded to the echo and the musical and ventriloquist work of Prof. Harrell charmed the kids.
The first part of the program consisted of a two-act musical play, entitled "The Fairy of the Fountain."
The character parts being taken by Hazel K. Sands as Bo-Peep, Ruth Chapin as Boy Blue, Helen Hayne as Dame Bustle, Ruth E. Polley and Esther Freyle as her daughters, Betty H. Chester as Prince Clever and Frances S. Bellows as Dew Drop, the fairy. Mrs. J. F. Capron was the pianist.The vaudeville show last night brought the Carnival to a fitting close,
and if the financial showing is as great as the social side, its success is assured. The vaudeville consisted of a professional dancing sketch, and a three-team comedy musical sketch, although professional, some Irish stories
by Mr. D. J. Callaghan of Newton Centre, a burlesque on Vesta Victoria and a catchy song, "Yes, She Did," by Mr.
Harry C. Johnson of Newton Highlands, southern songs by the Misses Turner, and some capital moving pictures. Between the numbers on the program, pictures of such well-known villagers
as Alderman Matt B. Jones, Alderman Burton P. Gray, Mr. Alfred E. Alvord,
Mr. Henry Bally and Mr. William M.
Flanders were thrown on the screen and greeted with great applause. Mr.
Johnson, whose work in the Bank Officers Show in Boston is well known, was in good form and his sketch was warmly greeted. Mr. Callaghan, a new comer in Newton Centre, made a hit, and qualified for a place in Ned Bow-en's next minstrel show. Dancing followed until midnight.The Improvement Association has good cause to congratulate itself and the village on the success of its carnival, much of which is due to the following committees, who worked long and well for the good cause.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The girls hockey team played two games with Radcliffe this week, one on Tuesday on the Cabot park grounds, resulting in a tie, the score
one to one, while yesterday afternoon at Cambridge, Newton won three goals to one. Yesterday's game was a good one, two of the goals being made by Miss Webster and one by Miss Allen.
The team is composed of these young ladies: Misses Vida Chase, Virginia Hoffman, Clara Webster, Beatrice Allen, Marion Butters, Margaret Thayer, Ruth Burgess, Maude Barton, Katherine Tewksbury, Hazel Smith, Dorothy Robinson and Virginia Tapley. A third game will be played at Cambridge next Thursday.A cake and candy sale will be held in the drill hall this afternoon for the benefit of the Library Fund. Dancing will follow.

D. R.

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., gave an enjoyable musicale yesterday afternoon at the Hunnewell clubhouse. The hostesses were Mrs. W. T. Logan, Mrs.
J. Henry Bacon, Mrs. W. B. Rogerson,
Mrs. H. B. Allen, Mrs. C. S. Packard, and Miss Helen Partridge. The artists were Mrs. Harold H. Blake of Concord, N. H., soloist, Mrs. Harold
H. Shumway, pianist and Miss Ethel Slipson, violinist. Mrs. Albert S.
Hutchinson gave the paper for the afternoon on Paul Revere.

MUSICALE

A very enjoyable musicale was given Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th, at the residence of Mr. J. E. Trowbridge, 15 Peabody street, Newton, by the "Quadrangle," a concert company composed of Mrs. Ada Wiswell Hall, contractor, Miss Agnes Trowbridge, violinist, Miss Marian Bell, pianist, and Miss Gertrude Lawson, reader. A very appreciative audience enjoyed the program.

WOMEN

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its first meeting November 13th at 2:30 P. M. in the parlor of the old Unitarian church.
The speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. George F. Lowell, who will bring echoes of the Peace Congress recently held in London. The subject will be "The Wicked Waste of National Revenue for Destructive Purposes." Every club woman in Newton is cordially invited to be present.After luncheon the session was called to order soon after two, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cary-Lord, with Mr.
George S. Dunham at the organ, rendered two groups of songs. Mrs.
Whitman, former president of Cantabriga, moved a vote of thanks to Miss Bacon for the efficient manner in which she had carried on all plans for the Ninth Biennial and the whole audience rose as one woman to express its gratitude. A short account of the International Congress on Tuberculosis was given by Mrs. Lillian Folger, chairman of the Health Department of the Federation. Then followed the address of the afternoon given by Miss Caroline L. Hunt on"Organized Work for the Home." It had been originally arranged that this part of the program should be taken by a man, but owing to the fact that the meeting fell on election day, Mr.
Dewey who had at first consented to come was obliged to decline.Miss Hunt in beginning her address said that the opportunity afforded her of speaking at this time was one reason for rejoicing for having no vote.
She felt it to be each one's duty through life to have certain hopes and to enter certain protests, as she today would say, "For this I hope,—for this I protest."The Newton Highlands Monday Club spent an unusually delightful afternoon with Mrs. Walker of Hillsdale road. Papers were given on "Mollere," and "Rembrandt," the latter be-
graphs. A social hour followed when there was opportunity of welcoming the newly elected members. Next week the club meets with Mrs. A. E.
Martell of 43 Carver road.On November 11 the Social Science Club will begin its study of "The Modern City" and will be continued for ten mornings. The subject of the first paper will be "The Site of the City."WITH A THOUGHT FOR YOUR COMFORTWe want to suggest to you the advisability of having your mattresses made over.It doesn't cost nearly as much as a new one, but it removes the humps and hollows, and gives as fresh a surface
as a new one. It fills out the thin places that let cold air
through.At this season of the year our upholstery department is giving particular attention to this work, and we can serve you promptly and well, calling for

Our method of supplying your requirements in Furs has made The Dunlap-Cooke Canadian Furs famous as the Furs of Quality. The Canadian Climate produces the finest furs known to commerce, because of the long, cold winters. The fur-bearing animals of Canada are provided by nature with a coat that is warmer, finer and more lustrous than temperate climates can produce.

The Duty on Manufactured Canadian Furs is 35%—We receive our Canadian Furs in the Raw State Duty Free. We have our own fur stores in Canadian centres; here we receive the raw furs from the trappers. We are the only Canadian Fur concern with a store in the United States. In this respect the strength of our position is unequalled. When you buy direct from us you save middlemen's profits and secure skins taken in prime season from the best sections, because we know where and when to buy the best that Canada offers.

ADAMS-BORDEN

Mr. Ernest Ross Adams of the Marion, Newton, was married on Tuesday evening to Miss Addie Borden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Borden of Fall River. The ceremony took place at seven o'clock at the bride's home, Rev. Dr. Clarence F. Swift of the Central Congregational church, officiating.

The parlor was decorated with white chrysanthemums, white roses and green. The bride wore a white satin dress, princess style, with pink applique lace and hand embroidery, cut en traine, the usual lace veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. The maid of honor was Mrs. R. W. Comstock, Jr., of Providence, R. I., and the ribbon girls were the Misses Winifred L. Adams of Newton and Laura L. Brown of Fall River.

A reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Adams being assisted in receiving guests from Boston, Providence, Taunton, New Bedford, and New York by Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Borden and Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams left on an automobile trip and on their return will reside at Vernon court, Newton, where they will be at home after December 15th.

ELLIOTT-ROFF

The marriage of Mr. Harmon Parker Elliott of Maple street, Newton, to Miss Helen Roff, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Roff of Cohoes, N. Y., makes a double tie between the two families, as Mr. Archibald A. Roff, the brother of the bride, married Miss Elsie Elliott, the sister of the groom a few years ago.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride in Cohoes, N. Y., on October 26th at eight o'clock in the evening, Rev. Dr. Walker of the Dutch Reformed church of that place officiating.

The bride wore a beautiful empire gown of white satin with court train and trimmed with duchess lace. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet.

Smith, Surveyor, dated October 30, 1897, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northeasterly corner of Waltham Street and Derby Street and thence running northeasterly on several lines by Derby Street the e. line and fifty-five and 43-100 feet to a monument; thence running and running South 22 degrees West three hundred and nineteen and 32-100 feet to a monument; thence turning and running South 38 degrees East three hundred and fifty feet to a monument on Waltham Street; thence turning and running Northeasterly by said Waltham Street two hundred and seventy feet to the point of beginning, containing about two acres of land more or less, being the premises conveyed to said Alice M. Watkins by deed of the Salem Savings Bank dated April 7, 1900, and recorded April 9, 1900;

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments of every kind which the purchaser must assume and agree to pay in addition to the amount bid at said sale.

$250 must be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Terms of payment of the balance will be announced at the sale. E. ALLEN SAVINGS BANK, Mortgagee, By Edward L. Millett, Treasurer.

ENGAGEMENT DINNER

An engagement dinner was given Miss Caroline Brackett of Bellevue street and Miss Rosalind Kenway of Lombard street at the Wellesley Inn last Thursday evening by the "N. N." Club of Newton. Yellow chrysanthemums were used for decoration, and there were covers laid for fourteen. Between courses amusing mementos were opened by the brides-elect. Miss Reid served as toastmistress, and it was a merry round of toasts with which the girls responded to her very graceful introductions. Music and a general sing brought to a close a very enjoyable evening. Those present were: Miss Bailey, Miss Brock, Miss M. Ivy, Miss P. Manning, Miss Plant, Miss Lawrence, Miss Springer, Miss Reid, Miss Horsfall, Miss Jewett, Miss Brackett, Miss Kenway, Miss Hancock and Miss Ferguson.

Republicans Named for City Primary

Nomination papers for Republican candidates to be voted for at the City Primary to be held Nov. 17 were filed with the Republican City Committee at the Masonic Building, Newtonville, Monday afternoon at five o'clock, when they were opened by Chairman Charles E. Hatfield and Secretary Albert P. Carter.

The nominees will be unopposed for the Republican nomination, although a few contests will probably be made by the Democrats. The list is as follows:

For Alderman at large, two-year term
Ward 1, Fred W. Stone.
Ward 2, Charles F. Avery.
Ward 3, Robert W. Williamson.
Ward 4, Frank H. Underwood.
Ward 5, Frank R. Moore.
Ward 6, Matt B. Jones.
Ward 7, Thomas Weston, Jr.

For Aldermen by ward, one-year term
Ward 1, William S. Bowen.
Ward 2, Charles D. Cabot.
Ward 3, Frank S. Webster.
Ward 4, Frank E. Morse.
Ward 5, Lewis H. Bacon.
Ward 6, Burton Payne Gray.
Ward 7, Frank A. Day.

For School Committee, three-year term
Ward 1, William L. Garrison, Jr.
Ward 2, Charles A. Brown.
Ward 3, Albert S. Hutchinson.
Ward 4, Herbert Stebbins.

For Ward and City Committee
Forbush, Frank D. Frisbie, William S. Bowen, Frederick L. Trowbridge, Ward 2, Albert P. Carter, Edward P. Hatch, Edward K. Hall, Herbert K. Hallett, Ellsha L. Avery.

Ward 3, Arthur G. Hosmer, H. P. Sheldon, Henry M. Davis, Daniel G. Wing, Charles E. Hatfield.

Ward 4, Horace M. Bunker, J. Franklin Ryder, David W. Morton, Fred W. Jones, H. P. Converse and R. G. Whiting.

Ward 5, Charles F. Johnson, Jr., Albert S. Hutchinson, Thomas J. Sullivan, Wilbur Halliday, Joseph H. Chadbourne.

Ward 6, Alfred E. Alvord, James G. White, Irving C. Paul, Walter L. Sanborn, Frederic G. Melcher.

Ward 7, Madison Bunker, Arnold Scott, Alfred H. Wing, Louis D. Gibbs, Vernon B. Sweet.

Again the memory of the late Louisa Pierce Barnes, the 70-year-old Newton woman who married young Dr. Charles H. Barnes of Newton, is called to the attention of the public by a case which is being tried before Judge Bond in the Middlesex superior civil session, at East Cambridge.

The suit is entered by J. Weston Allen, as executor of the will of Mrs. Barnes, and asks for damages in the amount of $2000 against the West Newton Savings Bank.

The plaintiff claims that the bank paid $1000 to Dr. Barnes from the estate of Mrs. Barnes, who drew the order before her marriage and that she was insane at the time.

The beautiful Electric and Gas Table Lamps, with newest ideas in Art Shades, are attracting thousands of people to the Show Rooms of Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin, corner Congress street, Boston, Mass.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—Mr. Henry W. Savage's charming production of the alluring Venetian operetta, "The Merry Widow," has taken Boston by storm, and is breaking all past records. That big stage successes have attained, by theatrical statisticians, who deal in box-office traditions, "The Merry Widow" is said to be the biggest hit in stage history, and judging from the universal success that has marked the production of the piece throughout the world, their statement undoubtedly is correct. In her three short years of existence "The Merry Widow" has been produced in over 300 European cities, while almost every civilized country in the world has enjoyed the seductive melodies of Franz Lehár's wonderful score. Forerun by thousands of New England people, who had heard the operetta in all sorts of languages and in all parts of the world, and who returned home singing its melodies and its praises, Mr. Savage's production of "The Merry Widow" at the Tremont Theatre proved the greatest light opera premiere in the stage history of Boston. Immediately the piece created a furor, and now, in the second month of the Boston engagement, it is impossible to accommodate the crowds that form an endless line at the box-office window. As one of the Boston critics truly wrote—"The success of 'The Merry Widow' is due to everything about it. The libretto is great. The music is great. The company of artists that Mr. Savage has brought to Boston is great. The production is great." "The Merry Widow" was written by Franz Lehár, who composed the score, and Victor Leon and Leo Stein, who supplied the libretto. In order to permit out-of-town playgoers to catch their trains, it has been arranged during the Boston run of "The Merry Widow" to raise the curtain at the Wednesday and Saturday afternoon performances at 2 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock promptly.

Boston Theatre—For the week of November 9th, the Boston Theatre will have an attraction that will lend itself particularly to the great stage of that theatre, with all the beautiful stage settings that have now become associated with it, and it will be particularly notable for the play is one in which Frank Losee made one of his greatest hits. This will be Paul Keeler's dramatization of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." It promises to be one of the best melodramas of the kind ever put on by a stock company, and already the greatest interest has been manifested. This production is in line with those that are making the Boston Theatre the great playhouse for Bostonians. In "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," the stock company has a piece which will appeal particularly to the patrons, as nearly every member of the company will have a part of some importance. The entire cast will lend itself to the best efforts of this splendid organization.

Keith's Theatre—Of all the legitimate stars that have come into vaudeville, none has attained greater popularity than Zelle de Lusan, the grand opera prima donna, who will be the leading attraction at Keith's Theatre the week of November 9th. Miss de Lusan is particularly popular in Boston, where she will long be remembered as the most noted member of the famous Boston "Idol Opera Company." Another feature will be Joe Hart's "Bathing Girls." Of all the producers, Mr. Hart has probably been the most successful, and in "The Bathing Girls," a large company with splendid costumes, there is enough comedy in it to give plenty of spice. Another headline feature will be Charles E. Evans and Company in a sketch called "It's Up To You, William." Other features will be a new presentation entitled "La Petite Revue," which is a decided novelty and in which a large company contribute good singing and comic comedy. Billy Van, the famous minstrel, will also be seen with a new line of humor. Others will be the Six Bovesojills, Londe and Tilly, the Five Musical Spillers, the Kinetograph and the special Keith show.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns, Newton, reports the leasing of the "Brentwood," 42 Fairmont avenue, Newton to Mr. Wm. Bridges of Watertown. Mr. George Parker of Salem was the lessor.

Also the estate of 27 Otis street, Newtonville, has been leased to Dr. Adelbert Fernald of Newton.

Miss H. Bird of Acton being the lessor.

The above broker has also leased the Howlett house, 51 Jefferson street, Newton to Mrs. M. T. Darling of Newtonville, and the estate 133 Boyd street to Mr. Chas. Webber of New Hampshire.

The house 49 Elliot street to Mr. H. G. Leslie of Needham, and the new house on Albemarle road, West Newton, owned by Mr. Valle, to our new city Forester, Mr. C. H. Bucknam, of Somerville.

Through the office of John T. Burns, agreements for four sales have been signed. Announcement to be made next week.

Henry H. Read has sold for William Z. Ripley and Addison C. Burnham, trustees of the Charles Davis estate, the old homestead situated at the corner of Beacon street and Lake avenue, Newton Centre, together with the adjacent lot overlooking Crystal Lake.

This property consists of a frame dwelling house and 16,258 square feet of land, with another lot containing 12,754 square feet of land, the whole assessed on a valuation of $11,300, of which $7,000 is on the land. This one of the most eligible locations in town, was purchased by Hon. James M. W. Hall, who will make improvements.

THE HENRY F. MILLER PLAYER-PIANO

Combines in one instrument the features that have made all Henry F. Miller pianos famous for nearly half a century together with a pneumatic self-playing action that enables any one to perform the finest piano compositions at once without previous practice and without fatigue.

It stands SUPREME among player-pianos.

Its effects are MUSICAL—not mechanical.

It IMPROVES rather than deteriorates with usage.

TO OUR OLD PATRONS

The demand upon us for slightly used Henry F. Miller pianos is at all times so great we are enabled thereby to offer our old patrons very liberal allowances for their pianos in exchange for new HENRY F. MILLER PLAYER-PIANOS.

YOU DON'T

HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

A NOBLE MAN

Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson concluded his sermon last Sunday morning on "Duties to Commonwealth and Country" with the following words of tribute to the memory of a noble citizen:

Then there remains one further thought: In the final analysis, the welfare of our nation consists not in its particular form of government, but in the personal character of the men and women of whom it is composed. The safety of the nation, like that of the individual, depends upon "salvation by character." If you want to have a strong nation, you must have strong men as citizens; if you want to have an honest government, it must be founded upon honest lives. So that after all, our foremost duty as citizens is to be good men and women, to realize our own best and highest in the commonplace duties of our daily living.

I have left myself no time to enlarge this subject, nor do I need to; for in one of the local papers this week there is published a sermon upon "Higher Patriotism," delivered recently by my colleague in West Newton, Mr. Jaynes. Those of you who have not read it, I commend to read it carefully. It says all that I could say to you, and in the few moments that remain to speak of one concrete example of what I mean by being a good citizen.

Very recently we have lost from our midst a true, noble, strong man. Starting in life as a boy, with no greater advantages than any boy of pluck, good will and honest purpose has in this country, he achieved great success, but achieved it without, for one moment, doing injustice to any other man. Those who have had business dealings with him agree in saying that in all their acquaintance with him he never did a dishonest thing, but was always considerate of the rights of others. No one, save God, knows all the good that he has done; for he did not his aims "to be seen of men." Since his death many letters and expressions have come from varied sources saying substantially, "All I have in the world I owe to him, and to his help in time of need." The thousands of others who could say the same we shall never know, for he "let not his right hand know what his left hand was doing. He sought no public office, but in the simple walks of daily life as a citizen he exemplified the highest honor. Unobtrusive and quiet in his methods, he was always a generous helper of every worthy cause; while to his church he gave the steady support of a reverent, consistent and unselfish loyalty. He never intruded his personal opinions, feelings, or prejudices upon others, but when asked for the assistance of his counsel it was always wise and strong and helpful. He was a nature strong in its manly vigor as a rock; he shrank from no sacrifice demanded from him in the line of duty; he was calm and clear and steady in times of emergency; and still with all his strength he showed a gentleness that was like the gentleness of woman. A man full-summed symmetrical in all his parts, in whose true nature strength and tenderness combined "to give the world assurance of a man."

I do not need to say one further word as to what I mean by good citizenship, by the fulfillment of our duties to commonwealth and to country. I need but point to that true, strong, noble, manly life and say, "Be such a man as Daniel Emory, and the kingdom of God will come on earth, through the cumulative power of the lives of men who 'keep God's statutes and observe his laws.'"

He who abandons the farm will find too late that good fortune has abandoned him.

The initial meeting of the Beacon Club held on election night in Waban hall set a standard for an entertainment which will be difficult to live up to, and the committee are justly to be congratulated. Fun and interest was kept at a high point till midnight through the agency of quick election returns, received over a special wire, an excellent vaudeville show, numerous imaginary telegrams hitting various members of the audience and read aloud, and a varied supper. Among the invited guests were Chief Mitchell and Captain Ryan of the police force and they aided in handcuffing the wizard Gauss in his first act of successfully escaping from leg irons and eight pairs of manacles. He next was nailed and tied in a box within a box constructed by Mr. Kneeland, and in eight minutes was outside, leaving the box intact. His best trick, however, was escaping from a regulation straight jacket in five minutes, in full view of the spectators. Other numbers heartily applauded were Billy Chase in humorous parodies, Magrath, an expert with the banjo, and Drew in sleight-of-hand, with ludicrous explanations of how easy it is.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Neighborhood Night last Tuesday was an especially enjoyable affair. The entertainment was provided by Miss Vera Curtis and Fred Kendall and the election returns were received during the evening. Dancing followed until midnight.

Next Thursday afternoon the first ladies whist will be given.

In selecting furs about which your personal knowledge is necessarily limited it is always safest to purchase from a responsible dealer who has a reputation earned by years of testing to maintain, and who does not desire and cannot afford to treat you unfairly.

For nearly fifty years we have been established in Boston as manufacturers of High Grade Furs, collecting the skins from all over the world and making them into every conceivable kind of fur attire.

This long experience in satisfying the needs of the most discriminating persons, has taught us how to give the largest possible value for every dollar expended with us.

All of our garments are fashioned after the latest Paris and London styles and are guaranteed in every respect to give perfect satisfaction, and to be superior to other fur garments when price, quality and workmanship are considered.

This is why shrewd fur buyers prefer to deal with a long established house whose entire business is centered in one location and whose workrooms are always open to inspection.

All we ask is for you to call and then decide where to purchase.

KATAHDIN CLUB

The fall social of the Katahdin Club was held last evening in Denison hall, Newtonville. There was a good attendance of members and guests and a social hour was enjoyed from 8 to 9. President George Agry, Jr., presided at the meeting which followed, and addresses descriptive of "My Town" were given by Mr. John R. Learned on Wilton; Mr. Frank W. Chase on Unity; Mr. F. E. Stanley on Kingsfield; Mr. John H. Pillsbury on Limington; and Rev. Henry E. Oxnard on Portland. Refreshments followed the addresses.

CITY HALL NOTES

The new City Engineer, Mr. Edwin H. Rogers, took charge on Monday. Work on the extension of the water supply system in Needham will stop next week on account of the lateness of the season.

City Treasurer Newhall received the largest amount of money for taxes last Saturday and Monday, that has ever been taken in this city during a similar period in the past. The total was $454,937.45. The entire office force was kept at work until midnight Saturday and until one o'clock Tuesday morning to handle the business. About 63 per cent of the present year tax levy had been paid at that time. The next largest amount ever received by the City Treasurer was in 1905, when over $421,000 was taken, or about 61 per cent of the tax levy. Yesterday Mr. Newhall paid off the last outstanding temporary loan of this year's tax levy, and for the first time in the history of the oldest municipality, the city is free from all temporary debt.

Alaska Seal Garments Again in Vogue

It is a now a well known fact that sealskin garments are to be worn and will be more fashionable this year than ever before.

In London, Paris and New York the demand is such that the skins are hard to obtain even at much advanced prices. We took advantage of the market immediately following the business depression at the beginning of the year, and hold today the largest stock of seals of any retailing house in this country. Alaska seals have always been a specialty with us and while our present stock lasts, which is composed of the finest Alaskas obtainable, we shall give our customers the benefit of our purchase at prices which are lower than they will be again for some time to come.

HOW IT IS DONE

An Interesting Article on past and present presidential campaigns

The following article from the pen of Mr. Louis D. Gibbs of Newton, a former Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican, and connected with the Press Bureau of the Republican National Committee of 1904, was read recently at a meeting held in the Newton Y. M. C. A.

THE WHEELS OF A PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

We often speak of the wheels and of the machinery of our national government. We are inclined to criticize the way these wheels run—their slowness, the noise they often make, and especially the amount of financial oil they require. If we could have our way about it there are many things that would be changed. From our points of view we could improve matters a lot. We wonder why those fellows who fixed up our constitution didn't do their job differently and better. We could give them a number of points right off the tops of our minds that we think would help matters immeasurably and make the wheels turn ever so much more smoothly.

But, I wonder if we all realize that the fundamental principles—the great main-spring and driving wheels—of our electoral system for choosing our presidents, are almost the only ones that have been left to run in their first bearings since they were started! It was 120 years ago the 13th of last month that the Continental Congress formally adopted our constitution and sent it out for the approval of the thirteen states. The article providing for a chief executive and the method of choosing him was the subject of long and careful consideration. Our forefathers didn't propose to have any "King business" over here and they hoped to prevent the domination of his selection by the big states or by any powerful interests.

It was planned to have the choice of candidates based on sound judgment, from among men of recognized ability who had proved their fitness for the great duties of the office by what they had already done. The framers of the constitution questioned the possibility that the people as a whole would be able to make an intelligent popular choice because of the impossibility of keeping fully informed. In those days of hampered transportation, no telegraph and limited postal facilities, upon the progress of events and the growth of men. The framers did, however, appreciate the fundamental fact that wherever communities are gathered there are leaders, men of affairs, whose judgment is sought and respected. Such men could be trusted to pick out presidential candidates. So the people were to repose their own confidence in their leaders who were to select the leader for the nation.

This was and is the basis of our electoral college (so-called) as it began and as it continues to-day.

It is dangerous, or at least doubtful expediency, to attempt to interpret the influences and motives, or to estimate the degree of foresight possessed by the men who made our history and built our government, but we must credit the framers of our constitution with an ability to foresee that our country was bound to grow, its population increase, its business flourish, and conditions improve until there was at least the facility of travel and intercommunication common in the old country. Taking this for granted, then, it is plain that they regarded the electoral system as not only good for the immediate needs but also good for the greater demands of a growing nation.

Don't misunderstand the situation, however. These provisions have to do only with the actual election of the chief executive. Our state conventions, national conventions, and the political campaigns incident to the presidential elections every four years have no basis in the constitution. They are special attachments hanging around the machine—extra wheels and springs put on to counteract the momentum of new forces; to catch and test new waves of popular sentiment. You will notice, however, that there are no hair-triggers that can be set off in the mechanism; no running away from or counter to the expressed will of the people as a whole.

As originally adopted the constitution provided that: "Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector."

The constitution having been ratified by a sufficient number of states, the continental congress on September 13, 1788, fixed the first Wednesday in January, 1789, as the day when the different states should appoint electors; the first Wednesday in February of that year as the day for the electors to meet in their respective states and make their choices for president; and the first Wednesday in March, 1789, was set as the day when the wheels of the newly established government should begin to turn.

In that first electoral college there were 69 votes, necessary to a choice. Gen. Washington was the unanimous choice and John Adams came next with 34 votes, and was, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, chosen vice-president.

By a law passed by congress on March 1, 1792, the presidential term was fixed to begin on March 4, instead of on the first Wednesday in March as originally fixed, and that has been the day of inauguration ever since, though the unseasonableness of the month for outdoor ceremonies has been the cause of untimely death for scores of our great men and probably thousands of humbler participants in the quadrennial celebrations.

The assembling of the second electoral college in February 1793 gave a hint as to the possibilities for growth in our young nation. The number of electors had jumped to 132, Washington was again the unanimous choice, and John Adams again became vice-president.

I shall not weary you with a chronological notation of the succession of presidents but must refer briefly to the next two. John Adams succeeded Washington as the third president and Thomas Jefferson became vice-president. Jefferson then succeeded to the presidency with Aaron Burr as his vice-presidential associate. The incidents of the campaigns and elections of Adams and Jefferson and Jefferson and Burr led to the adoption of the only amendment to the constitution, and this amendment did not affect the principles, but only added to the functions of the electors. They were empowered to elect both a president and vice-president. Up to the adoption of this amendment the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes for president was, by the constitution, named as vice-president. As is true now, little thought was given to the importance of this office. It was left to take care of itself; the supposition being, apparently, that if a man could command enough votes to put him second in the list of presidential possibilities he was big enough to be vice-president.

Alexander Hamilton, however, who was the "steam-roller" of those campaigns, had an honest, earnest distrust amounting almost to hatred—of Jefferson. He counseled quite anything that would accomplish his defeat. He also disliked Adams. Consequently, in his effort to steer his followers between his Scylla and Charybdis Adams came within three votes of landing in the President's chair four years sooner than he finally did. This virtual defeat of Hamilton, together with a narrow escape from the catastrophe of having Aaron Burr for our fourth President, led to the adoption of the Twelfth amendment empowering the electors to choose both the President and Vice-President.

From the beginning our national campaigns have been along much the same lines. Human nature has always been constant in its characteristics. Lines of thought and action have been the same; subject to the same influences and arguments. Although the electors were technically unpledged—free to vote for whomsoever they chose, they felt from the first the pressure of a moral responsibility to reflect the popular opinion. Though at perfect liberty to do so, not one of the men in the first two electoral colleges would have dared to vote for any other than George Washington. Popular sentiment was overwhelming though the actual voting for electors was light. So scattering was it in the first election in those states that had time to adopt the popular ballot that no reliable record is available. Many of the states left the appointing of the electors to the legislatures, and because of a deadlock in the New York legislature the vote of that state was not given; North Carolina and Rhode Island had not ratified the constitution.

In the second election the vote was again light. Azor Orne, one of our Massachusetts electors, received 693 votes—the highest on the list in this state.

The campaign interest did not get out the voters. The issue was: "For or agin the constitution" and the people were widely scattered. There was no question of the candidate; there was only one in the minds of the people: Gen. Washington.

The third campaign got right down to present day methods. To the arguments on the question of the constitution, were added the questions of party policy and the management of our national affairs. The parties lined up as the Federalist or constitutional party against the Republicans as they then styled themselves. These party designations had already become household words because of the differences of opinion over Washington's administration and Alexander Hamilton assumed the natural leadership of the Federalists.

Here, too, appeared the personal equation—the question of men. In Massachusetts where the people had been allowed to select by ballot two men from each district, one of whom the General Court should appoint as elector from that district, the fear that men favorable to John Adams would not be chosen was so strong among the political leaders, that the power to appoint was assumed by the legislature. The now familiar form of "open letter" was worked overtime as much as it is to-day. The scanty newspapers were crammed with "communications," while ample campaign documents were strewn as broadcast as the plodding stage or flying post-boy could go.

The questions about the candidates' personal characteristics and religious beliefs all came to the surface. Now we read extended explanations of why Mr. Taft is a Unitarian and serious paragraphs about why that spiritual inclination does not unfit him for writing a message to Congress on the currency question or sending woolen underwear to the Philippines. One hundred and two years ago the people were warned against Jefferson, who was as near being a Unitarian as anything, in an appeal to support a "Christian President" meaning Adams, of course. One of the most vicious appeals to class hatred also came out in a Philadelphia paper at that time and read:

"Freemen of Pennsylvania! Take caution! The aristocrats of our country are endeavoring to deceive you with the name of Washington. They presume to call theirs the Washington ticket. Beware, fellow citizens of the Washington ticket. It is intended to support the electors of the monarchist Adams, and begins with the name of Israel Whelen."

Our Republican ticket begins with the name of Thomas McKean, and is intended to support the election of the Republican Jefferson. Believe us, fellow citizens, that your President Washington loves a Republican and hates a monarchist. He, therefore, wishes that the Republican Jefferson may be his successor."

As a magnificent example of campaign lying—that isn't bad. Since Washington's time we have had the banking and currency problems in our pre-digested political food; and the tariff question has furnished whole meals of food for discussion, if not for thought, since the days of Madison and Monroe.

A attempt to help Jefferson's campaign was made by the Federalist minister to this country, "Citizen" Adet. He addressed a note to the secretary of state and got it as widely printed as possible, reproaching the administration with having violated its treaties with France and making other improper and unfounded statements. This episode was partially duplicated during the late Mr. Cleveland's campaign against Harrison in 1888, when the British minister to this country, Lord Sackville West, was tricked into writing a letter to a supposed naturalized Briton in California explaining why it would be for the best interests of Great Britain to have Cleveland re-elected. The British minister was recalled on demand of President Cleveland, but "Citizen" Adet's official head did not drop so promptly.

In this campaign Jefferson narrowly missed winning the presidency. It took another trial before the founder of the Democratic party won his fight. His ardor to be chief executive pursued through the three campaigns might almost be regarded as a precedent for Mr. Bryan's three campaigns as the nominee of that party—though the successful culmination of the latest effort is yet in doubt.

Still another comparison of campaign incidents comes in the publication broadcast of private correspondence. Hamilton was the political boss of his party. He was credited with dominating Washington's opinions—though that may be doubted with considerable reason—but at least his advice was weighed and his judgments of men were accepted by a large group. His dislike for John Adams found free expression in his correspondence and when Aaron Burr pounced like a vulture upon this material and scattered it over the country coupled with reports compromising Hamilton's private life, Adams was defeated for the second term and Hamilton was discredited. These experiences have been frequently duplicated and recent unpleasant incidents mark the path of retirement for Senator Foraker and others.

A good many students and writers on the political history of our country have unqualifiedly condemned our electoral system. They have branded it as impractical and insufficient, and assert that the framers of our constitution ought to have realized this at the beginning. It seems to me that such wholesale criticism is unfounded. Our national conventions, preceded by conferences of leaders, and the organization of parties were a logical outcome of our life and the framers must have appreciated some such possibilities when they built up the first principles of our national elections.

The first conference of Federalists that was important enough to receive attention, was held prior to the election of John Adams. The conference was over the possibilities of electing Adams and Thomas Pinckney of South Carolina. The leaders were bending every energy to shut Jefferson out of the running. A conference in behalf of Jefferson was later held in Pennsylvania just before the legislature of that state adjourned. The legislators supporting Jefferson met a considerable number of citizens from different counties in the state and agreed upon their list of electors. On the day following Adams' adherents in the legislature also had a conference and fixed up their slate. Meeting or rallies were then held in the different county seats where the electoral tickets were ratified. These were a convention system well under way before the constitution was eight years old.

That first conference of Federalist leaders in 1796 was more or less of a secret affair—on the order of the "Parlor Caucus" so-called of the present time. Again in 1800 the Federalist and Republican members of Congress held secret caucuses. In 1804, however, the Republicans did not hesitate to meet openly and the members of Congress, both Federalist and Republican, assembled to decide upon the plan of action in that campaign and to decide upon their candidates. These national conventions were held regularly thereafter until 1831, when our national conventions seemed to spring almost full blown into the scheme of our political machinery.

For some time prior to the autumn of 1831, there had been strenuous agitation against Free Masonry. As is always the case where an issue becomes of sufficient interest to arouse discussion all over the country, this question became a national issue and it did not take long for the opponents of Free Masonry to drag the question into politics. The result was that a so-called Anti-Masonry convention was held in Baltimore on September 26, 1831, to which every state was urged to send delegates equal in number to the representatives and senators in Congress. These delegates were chosen, of course, by people who were opposed to secret societies. The fact that they nominated William Wirt, of Maryland, as their candidate for President is of no consequence now. It is of interest, however, as showing the inconsistency and absence of fixed conviction and purpose among the delegates at the convention, to know that, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wirt appeared on the floor of the convention and declared that not only was he a Mason himself but that he was not opposed to secret societies, the convention declined to withdraw his name and reaffirmed its confidence in him as a candidate.

The national Republicans held their convention in Baltimore December 12, 1831, and placed Henry Clay in nomination. The Democratic convention was also held in Baltimore, May 21, 1832, when Jackson and Van Buren were picked as the leaders for their party ticket. This was the really big convention; there being 282 delegates present. Much of the convention machinery—at least in a parliamentary way—which is in use at the present time was adopted in those early days. Other features have developed as the result of experience. The main effort has all along been to prevent the stampeding of conventions and to be able, should emergency arise, to smother the tricks and subterfuges of political prestidigitators.

While Massachusetts has generally stood for fair and representative action in political matters, its leaders have never been slow to take advantage of any opportunities to lead the people in the way it was thought they should go. We have already called attention to the fact that the selection of electors was taken out of the hands of the people and delegated to itself by the legislature in order to make sure that Adams got the full vote of the state.

In 1812 a new word was added to our vocabulary and a bit of political history was made by Elbridge Gerry, who was candidate for Vice-President with Madison. Gerry had been governor of the state two years and had been defeated for re-election to his third term just before the Congressional caucus was held which nominated him as Madison's running mate. Gerry was not averse to being the destiny that shaped his own ends, and had attempted to so supervise the division of the Commonwealth into senatorial districts that their boundaries would include the right proportions of his party adherents. In running the lines of one of these districts the shape was so peculiar that one member of the legislature compared it to a salamander. Another member, however, said that it should be called a Gerrymander, and thus our jokes become history.

About this time the question of how electors should be chosen was much discussed and one plan after another was tried until finally in 1820, or soon after, Massachusetts returned to the choice of electors by Congressional districts with two at large. This method with slight variations was generally adopted by all states before 1828, except Delaware and South Carolina. South Carolina clung to the system of allowing the state legislature to appoint the electors until the Civil War, and that state also refrained from taking part in the national conventions. This system of district electors was given up, however, in one state after another, until it was finally abandoned by Maryland as the last in 1832. The system of nominating electors by Congressional districts, to be voted for, however, on a general state ticket, took the place of the old system and has since been in general use. In 1892, however, the legislature of Michigan which was Democratic thought they saw a chance to split the electoral vote of the state and adopted the district system again. There was a great outcry, however, over this action, even by the Democrats themselves who could force possible future consequences of such a program, and the next legislature went back to the general system we now have. As one presidential campaign after another piles up its record of experiences, it seems as though the wheels of our political machinery become more and more sensitive. The influences that develop as a result of different kinds of industrial activity and national legislation must be reckoned (Continued on Page 3) with and the management of campaigns of different candidates becomes a more and more intricate problem.

HOW IT IS DONE

The question of locality has always been considered in selecting candidates. At the outset when it was assumed that Washington would be our President political leaders decided that the nation should look to the north for its other candidate. At that time, Alexander Hamilton was not yet thirty-five years old, and so could not be considered as a presidential possibility. Doubtless he was thought of and might have come into the running when the fight against Jefferson was so keen had it not been for Burr's reproduction of Hamilton's correspondence and the spreading of scandal about his private life.

Now we pay much attention to picking our Vice-Presidential candidate from a doubtful state. With Taft hailing from Ohio, it was quite obvious that his running mate should come from New York in view of the disturbed conditions there. Mr. Bryan, hailing from Nebraska, has his running mate from Indiana, because of the uncertain elements at work in that state and the vigorous hope of the Democrats that they can carry it. Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt's partner was Mr. Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Judge Parker was favored with the companionship of Mr. H. Gassaway Davis of West Virginia. Mr. Davis was noted not only for his years but for his millions which were much needed in the campaign.

It is interesting to note that since Jackson's first election no President has been chosen in opposition to the vote of both New York and Pennsylvania, and only four Presidents have been chosen when the vote of either one of these states has been against him. Also since Jackson's time we have had to reckon with the "Solid South." It may properly be claimed, however, that the mere fact of one state or another failing to support a candidate has nothing to do with the case. The fact that New York state may, as we say, "go for Bryan" this year does not mean that there is any peculiar hypnotic influence exerted by that state over the rest of the nation. As has been said by Mr. Standwood in his "History of the Presidency," the results in different states simply indicate the trend of popular sentiment. It is useless to talk about what would have happened if this or that state had gone the other way. Managers of political campaigns appreciate the force of this. That is why so much is made of the results in Vermont and Maine and why such an effort is made to get out a big vote. It isn't that the vote of either or both of those states could be regarded as anything in the way of a hoodoo or a fetish, but the results show the trend of political sentiment in this section of the country, at least.

A great deal is done to educate this sentiment and to stimulate the people to vote one ticket or the other, but I believe it is pretty generally conceded that not much can be accomplished in the way of a campaign of education before the Maine and Vermont elections, and for that reason, the vote is more indicative of how the people are looking at the issues of the campaign.

More allowance is being made nowadays for intelligent thought on the part of the voters. This was especially marked in the campaign of 1904. The old barn-storming methods of torch light processions, special junkets, front porch receptions, red fire, and blatant haranguing gave place to quieter, saner methods and more accurate statements.

The process of turning the wheels of a presidential campaign is not as mysterious and intricate as most people have been led to assume. After the candidate has been nominated, the national organization must bring him before the people in the most effective way. We often joke about the slim chance of the average boy to ever be President. We commonly, I think, underestimate how hard a job it is to get to be President and how much determination, forthrightness and planning must be done by the man who hopes to even get within hailing distance of the office.

You will be surprised, perhaps, to know that Mr. Taft, or at least his friends for him, began chopping out the path toward the White House nearly ten years ago. When he became governor of the Philippines he was mentioned as a presidential possibility.

Mr. Bryan had had his eye on the Presidential nomination for a considerable time before the Democratic convention of 1896. His famous speech known as the "Cross of Gold and Crown of Thorns" was not the extemporaneous product that so many people took it to be. He had prepared it with infinite care and solemnly rehearsed it weeks before the opportunity came to deliver it in the Chicago convention. He was so confident that he would get results from this effort that he notified at least one of his friends among the newspaper correspondents of the fact that he was going to appear before the convention and told him to be sure and come around that evening, as there would be a statement which the newspapers would want. His speech produced a commotion, and had it not been for the restraining influences which have been built up around the proceedings of our conventions, Mr. Bryan would doubtless have been nominated on the spot by acclamation. He made himself a force to be reckoned with and the convention was adjourned over night to allow the leaders time to confer on the advisability of bringing him forward as the candidate the next day.

To go back to the management of a campaign: Ordinarily the candidate has made himself well known by his public acts and speeches. Taking for granted his average as a public man, he must also be one who is widely known. Months before the real campaign begins, some political worker or newspaper correspondent, who has anticipated the drift of things, gathers these speeches and records of activity and abstracts such features as will make the best campaign literature. Another man busies himself preparing an extended biography of the candidate. This work is all done with the sanction of the candidate, of course, and these men put themselves in line for some position in the campaign headquarters after the ball has begun to roll.

The chairman of the national committee is selected, as are many of the influential members of the executive board, because of their intimate relations with the presidential candidate. These are the men who have heard to heart talks, who do not mince matters, and who do not hesitate to give each other advice and to hold the candidate to the path he should travel. This does not mean that all candidates are amenable to this sort of discipline, but all band together to accomplish a party victory. Consequently, there is not so much friction and bickering as one would be led to believe from the frequently published reports.

The treasurer of the committee is selected because of his business ability and his wide acquaintance with financial interests. It is important that these should be allied with the party because they furnish the sinews of war.

In the headquarters will be also gathered representatives of different nationalities who are expected, because of their ability as speakers and their acquaintance among their own peoples, to arouse enthusiasm and get out the Jewish, German, French, Italian and other classes of votes. It is regarded as important that every interest and the people of every nationality shall be interested and made to feel that they have a part in the campaign.

The speakers' bureau is an important feature. Years ago, when there was less literature circulated and fewer people employed around the headquarters, there was more money to spend for speakers, so that the spellbinders not only had their expenses paid but got quite fat salary allowances. Now, however, they are lucky if they even get their expenses paid, and many an excellent speaker is willing to give his entire time throughout a campaign because of the prominence it brings and the certainty of preferment for official appointment as minister to the Zulu Islands or as assistant secretary of an ambassador when his candidate comes into his own.

The literary bureau is now regarded as the most important feature of the campaign work. It is usually in charge of some man who has had extended experience as a Washington correspondent, who is thoroughly familiar with political conditions throughout the country and has a wide acquaintance with newspaper publishers and other men in public life. Under his direction all the campaign literature is circulated. Members of Congress and ward, city and town officials make up lists of names of doubtful voters and first voters and they are supplied with literature intended to fit their particular needs and answer the points likely to be raised. Bundles of literature are sent everywhere throughout the country to be distributed by willing hands. It is surprising how many people are anxious to work during a campaign. It is one of the hopeful signs of our political life that the majority of these inconspicuous but effective workers put their shoulders to the wheel without any remuneration, solely because they like to be connected with such work and because they have an intense loyalty to their party.

The work of supplying the newspapers with information about the campaign and the issues involved is now developed to a highly systematic degree. Lists are prepared containing the names of those papers that have given their support to the ticket in the past and they are asked if they wish to receive the material sent out from headquarters during the campaign. They are then supplied with what is called plate matter, copy for which is prepared in headquarters and distributed by one of the newspaper associations. Sheets of what is called "Miscellany" containing abstracts of speeches, reports of the progress of the campaign in different states and letters from prominent men are sent out to the papers weekly. Editors clip as much of this matter as they can use and set it up in their own style of type, and it all tends to influence the general trend of thought. Proof sheets of short paragraphs that make interesting reading in any paper are furnished as well as material which will furnish the basis for any editorials that the publishers may choose to write. Ever since Jackson's time cartoons have been a prominent feature. Hundreds of these are submitted by various aspiring artists, and the chief of the literary bureau is driven to his wit's end oftentimes to decide whether he can use any of them or not. After the sketches have been accepted, they are gotten up with the proper captions and sent out to the papers through the Press Association.

All of these activities cost money. A campaign is an expensive proposition. The offices provided for the headquarters must be centrally located and their rent is high. The various heads of bureaus must be paid ample salaries, because the work is exacting and their time is valuable. No men could be chosen for such positions whose time is not valuable. Then, too, all of the workers in the headquarters expect reasonable compensation and the printing and issuing of the campaign literature entails an enormous expenditure.

In view of the fact that the upper end of our senatorial district has received the impression that Newton will not support its candidates, an impartial view of the votes cast last week and compared with the vote of 1907 will be of interest. Newton gave Dennison, one of its own citizens, a vote of 3,249 in 1907, and gave Mulligan of Natick last week a total of 3,498, an increase of 249 votes. Newton gave Dennison a plurality of 1,431 1,565—not bad for a city which is said to knife candidates from outside its limits. It will also be noted that Mr. Mulligan's vote is but 62 less than that given the Republican candidate for governor, showing that Mr.
Mulligan received practically the full party vote.

The remainder of the district can hardly reach this standard. Mr. Taft received a vote of 8,390, with a plurality of 3,718, while Mr. Draper's vote was 8,215, and his plurality 2,081.
Both of these candidates received a plurality of all votes cast outside of Newton, while Judge Mulligan's vote in the district was 7,477, his plurality 1,393, and he came into Newton 175 votes behind his competitor.

The petitions for reduction in the rate paid for electricity to 12 cents are meeting with great favor, and many who do not now use electricity have stated that if the reduction is brought about, they will become consumers. Only two days more will be allowed for signatures, as the papers must be given the mayor early next week.

The financial needs of Newton, in general and of Newton Centre, Newtonville and Newton in particular are being admirably met nowadays by the Newton Trust Company and its co-partner, the Newtonville Trust Company, as will be seen this week in our news columns. The arrangement made adds immensely to the banking facilities in these scattered communities and the large resources of the allied companies insures the utmost accommodation in all financial matters.

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, met at the home of the First Vice-Regent, Mrs. George Hutchinson, Chestnut street, West Newton, on Monday afternoon, Nov. 9. After a short business meeting, presided over by the Regent, Mrs. Arthur P.
Friend, the guests listened to some delightful music by Miss Chapin, and then journeyed to Cuba with Mrs. H.
J. Hayward, the Regent of the Naom-ni Baldwin Chapter of Woburn. Her five months' stay at Havana was charmingly pictured.

Miss Morton, chairman of the Music Committee, distributed tickets for the Old Folks Concert, to be given by the Chapter the eighth of December in Players' Hall, West Newton, when an unusually attractive program will be presented.

After a social hour in the dining-room, the members separated to meet again the 8th of December at the concert.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

At the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on Nov. 18, Mrs. Ellen M.
Richards will speak upon "Household Labor in the Twentieth Century."

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will hold a tea at its next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 17th, in Taylor block, Auburn street, Auburndale (opposite R. R. station). It is sincerely hoped that all members will be present.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. Martell on November 9. The characters considered were "Charles II of Spain," "John Bunyan," and "Muriello." The program was enlivened by music, ten was served and brief social hour enjoyed. Attention is called to a change of meeting place for next week, it being with Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee of Terrace avenue, instead of as announced in the calendar.

The Social Science Club is to consider this year "The Modern City." Ten mornings will be devoted to this subject in its practical and the critical aspects.

On Wednesday morning the first paper, "The Site of the City," was presented by Miss Jennie L. Hamilton.
The essayist spoke of the ancient city, built within the plowed furrow, with its vocations to the gods, of the Medieval city growing up around the church and the baron's castle, and of the modern city with its beginnings on river or bay or other point of vantage, where commercial life developing space gives occupation and home to rapidly increasing populations.

The next topic, "The Plan of the City," will be presented by Mrs. E. H.
Byington on November 18.

At the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday morning, Dr. Richard C. Cabot of Boston gave an exceedingly interesting lecture upon "Foregrounds and Backgrounds in Work for the Sick." Dr.
Cabot talked from out his wide experience as a physician, and gave much food for thought. In the routine of daily work one is likely to forget the perspective and in the rush to gain
the result one often neglects the little things which should be done at the moment. After the conclusion of his regular address Dr. Cabot told more particularly of the work being done at Emmanuel church. The new element in this movement is the "team work," where minister and doctor are working side by side. Next week the meeting will occur at 2:45
P. M. and is the regular monthly meeting. Mr. John Colby Abbott will speak on "Fables and Furbelows of the XVIIIth Century."

ANNUAL RIFLE MATCH

The 8th Annual Competition between the Clafin Guard, Co. C, 5th regt. Inf., and the Clafin Guard Veteran Association was held at the range of the active company at Needham Heights, on Saturday, Nov. 7, 1908.

The conditions of the match were very poor, the weather being cold and raw, and the range in an unfinished condition, but the match was shot and the active company secured the cup for the second time by a very credible score.

The conditions of the match called for teams of ten men, shooting either the Springfield or Krag rifle. As the active company had but seven men and the Veteran Association ten, the best seven scores were counted as the team total, which was as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Saturday Newton played her annual game with Waltham at Centrapark, and was beaten, 12-0. Waltham scored all her points in the first half. She scored the first touchdown by straight line bucking through the left side of Newton's line. The second touchdown was made by Captain Leary, who intercepted a forward pass and ran sixty yards for it. He also kicked the goals. Newton played a much better game in the second half and Waltham did not score again.
Captain Leary and Harry played fine football for Waltham, while Barrows' tackling, kicking, and use of the forward pass was the bright feature of Newton play. Lynch, the left guard, played a fine defensive game for Newton, and it was mainly through the playing of these two Newton men that the score was kept down.

Over $90 was realized at the cake and candy sale, held Friday afternoon in the Drill Hall for the benefit of the Library Fund.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The regular meeting of the aldermen Tuesday night was of little importance, and there were many absent.
President Weston was in the chair and Aldermen Avery, Bacon, Bosson, Burr, Cabot, Converse, Doherty, Miller, Stone, Underwood, Webster and White were also present.

Hearings were held on these petitions: Newton Upper Falls Improvement Society for removal of tree on Hill street; of the Gas Light Co. for poles on Prince street, and on Eddy street; of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Auburn street and Rowe street; and on taking land for sewer in Loring street, and at which no one appeared.

At the hearing on petition of the Gas Light Co. for poles on Kimball terrace, Mr. J. L. Jellerson appeared, but after an examination of the plan, withdrew any opposition. At the hearing on petition of the same Co. for poles on Berwick road, Mr. William F. Harbach spoke in opposition and a remonstrance of Shannon and others was filed.

At the hearing on widening a portion of Parker street, Mr. C. C.
Stearns appeared in opposition.

The mayor submitted the estimates of heads of departments and his own recommendations for receipts and expenditures for 1909, which will be found in more detail in another column.

The request of the School Committee for certain transfers of its appropriations was referred and subsequently granted.

Hearings on Nov. 23 were ordered on petitions of the Telephone Co. for attachments on North street, on Farwell street, for relocation of one pole on Beacon street and for poles on Kaposis street. Also on petition of the Gas Light Co. for poles on Churchill avenue, and of the Western Union Telegraph Co. for attachments on Washington street, ward 3.

Hearings were ordered for Dec. 14 on petitions of C. G. Carley to sell distilled alcohol on Chestnut street,
ward 3, and of the West End Street Railway Co. to alter tracks on Tremont and Washington streets.

Petitions of Geo. W. Dunlevy for pool table licenses on High street, of W. O. Gulliver for additional pool table on Lincoln street, of F. H. Boston for Common Victualer license, West Newton, of Abraham Luff to transfer junk license to Chandler street, of Chas. D. Buono to transfer pool table licenses to Auburn street, of Reuben Forknall and Wiley S. Edmunds for renewal of auctioneer licenses, were granted.

Petitions of Executors of Judkins estate for payment of land taken for drain in Omar terrace, of Max Center for restoration of junk license, of James J. Maguire for wagon license and liquor transportation permit, of Dunton, et al, for change of name of Auburn place to Williston road, and of Ida E. McCarthy for damages for being compelled to ride in police patrol wagon, were referred.

The acceptance of the Newton Street Railway Co. of order granting them a conduit across Commonwealth avenue was received.

Applications of Florence F. Sullivan on Washington avenue and Newell road, and of Ethel Beers, George C.
Blume on Newell road for apporportionment of betterment assessments, were granted.

On a venire of the Superior Court for 5 jurors to serve at Cambridge, Nov. 30, Alderman Cabot drew these names from the box: Augustus T.
Clark, Hancock avenue; Winthrop C.
Avery, Oak street; Chas. J. Maynard, Crafts street; Ralph S. Wentworth, Newtonville avenue, and Charles E.
Kattelle, Grove street.

On recommendation of committees,
the Telephone Co. was granted attachments on Chestnut street, and Erie avenue, land was taken and a sewer ordered constructed in Loring street, and a portion of Parker street was widened.

The application of Anna Williams to erect a frame store on Hicks street was also granted.

An order assigning a hearing for widening of Pearl street, on which notice had been waived, was adopted, the hearing held and the street duly widened.

An order was also adopted declaring the result of the election in this city on Nov. 3rd, and the various returns of election were signed by the aldermen present.

The board adjourned at 8:32 o'clock.

MEN WANTED

Forest Commissioner Charles I. Bucknam notified all applicants for work to appear at Kenrick park last Saturday and qualify for the month work expected of them, which is at the middle and tops of the trees.

He tried out 22 out of 65, the balance refusing to go into the trees. Persons using spurs were allowed to go half way up a dead tree and the others were required to go up a 30-ft. ladder then climb from limb to limb for ten feet higher.

The test was very simple and any tree man could qualify, and people who wanted to work were given a very fair opportunity. Another chance will be offered to all men who want to do month work to qualify at the same place to-morrow at 11 a. m.

READ LECTURE POSTPONED

On account of the illness of the lecturer for the present season, the Read Fund trustees have postponed the annual series of lectures until January.

—The ladies of Newton may find something in fine footwear that will just fit and please them at the Woman's Parlor Shoe Store, 7 Temple place, Boston. See adv. in this paper on last page.

TO WORK TOGETHER

TRUST COMPANIES COMBINE

An arrangement of no little importance to the people of Newton has been made by the Newton Trust Company and the Newtonville Trust Company as a result of which they are to work together in serving their patrons and in the development of their business. This has been brought about through the purchase by the Newton Trust Company of a certain amount of stock in the Newtonville Trust Company and the purchase of Newton Trust Company stock by Newtonville stockholders.

Congressman John W. Weeks has retired from the presidency of the Newtonville Trust Company, and has entered the Board of Directors of the Newton Trust Company, becoming its vice-president. Mr. Dwight Chester, under whose presidency the Newton Centre Trust Company enjoyed exceptional prosperity, succeeds Mr. Weeks as president of the Newtonville Trust Company, and enters their Board. Mr. Sydney Harwood, and Mr. G. Fred Simpson, Vice-President of the Newton Savings Bank, both formerly of the Newtonville Board, enter that of the Newton Trust Company. Hon. Seward W. Jones of the Governor's Council and Mr. Frank L. Richardson also enter the Newtonville Board, Mr. Richardson as vice-president.

These two Trust Companies working together in harmony with their combined strength, expect to be able to serve their patrons to much better advantage than they could independently of each other. They hold at present about seven-eighths of the banking business of the city, their total resources amounting to about two and three-quarter millions.

FALL MEETING OF STAE FEDERATION

Afternoon Session

(Concluded from last week)

After luncheon the session was called to order soon after two, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cary-Lord, with Mr. George S. Dunham at the organ, rendered two groups of songs. Mrs. Whitman, former president of Cantabrigia, moved a vote of thanks to Miss Bacon for the efficient manner in which she had carried on all plans for the Ninth Biennial and the whole audience rose as one woman to express its gratitude. A short account of the International Congress on Tuberculosis was given by Mrs. Lillas Folger, chairman of the Health Department of the Federation. Then followed the address of the afternoon given by Miss Caroline L. Hunt on "Organized Work for the Home." It had been originally arranged that this part of the program should be taken by a man, but owing to the fact that the meeting fell on election day, Mr. Dewey who had at first consented to come was obliged to decline.

Miss Hunt in beginning her address said that the opportunity afforded her of speaking at this time was one reason for rejoicing for having no vote. She felt it to be each one's duty through life to have certain hopes and to enter certain protests, as she to-day would say, "For this I hope, for this I protest."

I hope that as our organization adds to itself state federations, district federations, city federations, separate clubs and individual women, it will turn its attention more and more in the direction of those forms of work for which organization is not only desirable, but indispensable. And I hope, of the united activities upon which the clubs will enter in the future, a larger and larger per cent will be in connection with those labors which fall to woman, either naturally or because of expediency, and which constitute her duties, responsibilities and obligations.

The talents of individual women are as varied as those of men and the forms of labor upon which they may enter are as diversified; but the collective responsibility of women must be for satisfactory conditions during periods of preparation for work, periods of recuperation, and leisure. Women are, as a whole, responsible for the period of childhood, a period of preparation for life work; for those periods of leisure which follow the labors of one day and precede the work of the next, which follow the work of one week and precede that of the next, and for those vacation periods which follow the work of one year and should bring us to the labor of the next strong in body and refreshed in mind.

If these periods are to be satisfactory, we must all have shelter which is healthful, quiet and beautiful, we must have pure and nourishing food, we must have comfortable and healthful clothing, we must have opportunity for recreation, for sane entertainment, and for the slight of natural and of artificial beauties.

Some of the work can be accomplished by women as individuals; much of the information necessary for the care of homes and for the preparation of food can be secured without the aid of organization. But labor necessary to secure satisfactory building laws, tenement house inspection, clean dairies and markets; dustless, beautiful and quiet streets; playgrounds and safe amusements for the young must be cooperative.

United action within narrow limits was the rule in the old-fashioned home, and the co-operative activities by which the needs of that home were supplied developed and put a premium upon the best of human qualities and characteristics, upon unselfishness, generosity and helpfulness. When home industries were abandoned, and women began to buy rather than to make, it seemed for a time as if they were going to find it necessary, even for the maintenance of home, to develop the bargaining spirit, to become shrewd, calculating and auspicious. But within the field of competition into which they have been forced, women are creating for themselves centers for co-operation, and the traits of character which are then being developed are similar to those which the old-fashioned home brought forth, and are more valuable than the practical results of the co-operative activities, more valuable than pure food or clean streets, or satisfactory garbage disposal.

Only by united action for the benefit of all homes can women preserve the ethical and moral stimulus of the home of the past, while enjoying the comforts and conveniences of the home of the present.

—The ladies of the Methodist Society held a very successful bazaar on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week. The vestry was beautifully decorated and an excellent array of things were on sale.

—At the fair to be held in Lincoln hall on Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 20 and 21, under the auspices of St. Paul's church, a comedy, entitled "The Piper's Pay," will be given by some of the young ladies of the parish.

—Mr. Sam R. Moulton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Moulton of Walnut street, died yesterday morning at the Newton hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Moulton was taken suddenly ill early Monday morning and hurried to the hospital, where an operation was performed. He was 25 years of age, a graduate of the Newton High School, and well known in this village. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon, the burial being private.

MR. WALTON DEAD

Mr. George A. Walton, for many years a well-known resident of this city, died last Friday at his home on Chestnut street, West Newton, after an illness of three months. Mr. Walton was born in Wakefield, Mass., and was 86 years of age. He attended the Bridgewater Normal School and then taught in the High School at Lawrence. He later accepted a position as agent for the State Board of Education, which he held for many years until he retired from active work some ten years ago. He was the author of Walton's Arithmetic and several other school books. He was prominent in the West Newton Unitarian church and served on its standing committee and as superintendent of the Sunday School. He was also active in the agitation for woman's suffrage and in civil service and other reforms. In 1885 he was elected a member of the school committee for three years, defeating his own wife, and was himself defeated for re-election in the fall of 1887. Mr. Walton is survived by three children, Mrs. James R. Dunbar, Dr. George Walton and Miss Alice Walton. Mrs. Walton's death took place a few months ago. Funeral services were held from the West Newton Unitarian church Tuesday afternoon, in charge of the pastor, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes. The ushers were Mr. Francis Newhall, Mr. Samuel Thurber, Jr., and Mr. C. G. Haskell. The Mendelssohn quartet sang and the remains were taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation.

NILES—HOWARD

Miss Vera Howard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, became the bride of Mr. Gus Doncaster Niles of Watertown last Wednesday evening. The ceremony took place at 7.15 o'clock at the Howard residence on Vernon street, Newton, and was performed by Rev. D. Melancthon Jones of Newton. The bride wore a gown of creamy lace over canary colored messaline, made in Empire style and with a long train. Her veil of tulle was held in place with a wreath of marguerites, and she carried a large shower bouquet of yellow marguerites with loops of ribbon and smilax. She entered the room on her father's arm and was given away by him, and the groom was unattended. The house was beautifully decorated, the rooms being banked in greenery, with yellow chrysanthemums and smilax. The ceremony took place at a temporary altar, over which hung a horn of plenty, filled with smilax and chrysanthemums.

A reception followed until ten o'clock, the bride and groom being assisted in receiving their many friends by Mr. and Mrs. Howard and Dr. and Mrs. James P. Niles. The guests were presented by these ushers: Messrs. Chase Langmaid and Will Carleton Niles of Watertown, and Franklin Jones and Harold F. Barber of Newton. Mrs. Howard wore a lavender gown with rare old Duchesse and point lace. Mrs. Niles was beautifully dressed in soft white silk. Mrs. Dair, the sister of the bride, wore a dull green silk gown, with lace, and Mrs. Sherman Howard was charming in blue crepe de chine and Princess lace. Mr. and Mrs. Niles are enjoying a wedding trip to the White Mountains.

Newton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murphy have sent out cards for the marriage reception of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Anna Murphy, to Mr. Eugene Edward Murphy, to follow the ceremony at 23 Emerson street, Wednesday evening, November 25th, from 8 to 10.

—The regular meeting of the Unitarian Club will be held in the Channing church parlors next Thursday evening. Supper will be served at 6.30 and at 8 o'clock. Mr. Charles J. Glidden will give his illustrated lecture on "The World as Seen from a Motor Car."

—At the Howard-Niles wedding Wednesday night, a runaway horse caused considerable excitement, by bolting thru the crowd of carriages and automobiles, striking one automobile and then smashing the wheel of the carriage to which it was attached by striking the curb. No one was injured.

—Mrs. Thomas Weston and Miss Weston gave an enjoyable at home last Friday afternoon to meet Miss Elizabeth Loring, whose engagement to Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., has recently been announced. Nearly two hundred ladies were present. Mrs. Weston and Miss Weston were assisted by Mrs. A. R. Weed, Mrs. G. M. Weed, Mrs. W. R. Dewey, Mrs. Nathan Heard, Mrs. Homer Loring of Brookline, and Mrs. Nelson Bradford of Dedham.

—George Ahern, 18 years of age, was seriously injured Wednesday night by falling down an elevator well in the Vernon court apartments, and was taken to the Newton hospital. Ahern had run the elevator to the top of the shaft. As near as occupants of the apartments can determine he left the car and descended several stories to do an errand. It is believed that he then absently returned to the floor below where the car had stopped, opened the door and stepped into the shaft. Although he bled profusely and was unconscious when found, he revived sufficiently to tell physicians who were called that he did not know himself how the accident occurred.

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—Of the many successes of that brilliant playwright, Henry Arthur Jones, none have met with greater favor on this side of the water than "The Liars," which was first produced in this country by Mr. Frohman, with a company headed by John Drew. It is one of those bright comedies with an endless chain of amusing situations that appeal to all classes, and at the same time teaches a lesson. All together it is one of the very best comedies of recent years, one in which the Boston Theatre Stock Company will be seen to excellent advantage with Wilson Melrose and Miss Eleanor Gordon in the leading parts. It will be very different from anything done by the company recently, and in line with some of the greatest comedy successes in which the members excelled last season.

Keith's Theatre—The season at Keith's Theatre is becoming notable for the large number of prominent theatrical and operatic stars that are heading the bills, Virginia Harned and Zelle de Lussan being followed by Thomas E. Shea, the tragedian. He will make his first vaudeville performance in Boston, November 16th, in a condensed version of "The Belles." The surrounding bill will be equally strong, among the leading features being the Ellmore Sisters, than whom there are no better comedienne on the stage. Kate Ellmore, the girl with the green gloves, is in a class all by herself. Rosina Cassell and her midge dogs are also on the bill. A new feature will be "The Gainsboro Girl," a beautiful young woman with an act that is a decided novelty. Others are Barry and Wolford in a singing sketch; Chasino; the Zanettos, that remarkable troupe of jugglers, who will long be remembered in Boston from the feat-performed by the leading member of the company, by catching on a fork, held in the mouth, a turnip thrown from the top of Bunker Hill Monument. The bill will also include Sam Williams in a pantologue, Maybelle Perkins and the special Keith show of moving pictures, solos and current events.

Orpheum Theatre—Manager William Morris certainly knows what variety means, for next week's bill is headed by the Joe Bogany Troupe of English Pantomimists. They are declared to be the funniest acrobatic act in the world. Frank Bush, the story teller, has some new ones to spring, and McMahon and Chappelle, with their Pullman Porter Maids, are added attraction. The Pullman Porter Maids give one of the most amusing acts on the vaudeville stage. An unusual act is that of Alice Teshow and her trained cats. The cat is called the hardest animal to train, but Miss Teshow's pets really seem to enjoy their stunts. Vasco, the Mad Musician, returns from his European trip, and Charlie Vance is retained for a second week with her catchy Southern songs. Maude Hall and Carleton Macy are repeating their unusual sketch, called "The Awakening," and Alexandra and Bertie are also on the bill, and the Moriscope has some new comedy pictures.

Waltham Scenic Theatre—Charles Farrell, the old Plantation singer, whistler and dancer, opens the show this week with one of the best acts of his kind on the vaudeville stage. He made a decided hit. Then comes the premier vocalist and impersonator, Miss Lizzie B. Raymond. She has been on the stage several years, but it is her first appearance here in this section. She is possessed of a pleasing face and a fine voice. The Great Du Bois, who has created a sensation in Europe and this country, gives a startling exhibition of magic, which opens with Noah's Ark, from which he takes out live pigeons, ducks, rabbits and canines, from what was apparently an empty ark, but by a few passes of the hand reveals a house of live birds and animals. It is an act that is worth twice the price of admission. Another pleasing act is that of Will and Mabel Casper in the one-act comedy, "St. Perkins' Visit." The above features with the pleasing Moving Pictures is enough to satisfy all classes.

Hollis Street Theatre—One of the most important events of the present theatrical season, will be the annual Boston engagement, beginning next Monday evening, November 16, at the Hollis Street Theatre, of Mr. Robert Edeson, in the successful new play, "The Call of the North," which comes here direct from New York City, where it enjoyed a prosperous engagement. Based on Stewart Edward White's novel, "Conjuror's House," "The Call of the North," from the pen of George Broadhurst, author of "The Man of the Hour," is a virile drama of the vigorous life in the silent vastness of the great northern forests. Its well conceived and cleverly developed plot deals with the love and adventures of Ned Trent, a young American, who, as played by Mr. Edeson, is said to be one of the most appealing roles which the actor has yet created. The company includes Seymour Stratton, Mr. James J. Ryan, Mr. W. J. Bowen, Mr. George Spelvin, Mr. Lawrence Edinger, Mr. Spottiswoode Allen, Mr. Harrison Ford, Mr. Percival Aylmer, Mr. Joseph Rawley, Mr. John Fox, Mr. Edward Sherman, Miss Ann Murdock, the youngest and one of the most beautiful leading women on the stage to-day, Miss Beatrice Prentice, Miss Maud Knowlton and Miss Agnes Mark. The engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre is limited to two weeks.

Newton

—New fall styles in footwear are being shown at J. McCammon's, 283 Washington street.

—Miss Florence S. Gills of Washington, D. C., is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Charles M. Ford, of Church street.

—There will be a fair and entertainment at the North Evangelical church, Chapel street, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December second and third. Useful and fancy articles for sale, also candy, cake and ice cream.

—At Channing church next Sunday morning the quartet assisted by extra voices will render the Cantata, "Song of Thanksgiving," and the minister will conclude the series of sermons on "Duties to Humanity."

—Mr. S. A. D. Sheppard, a former well known resident on Arlington street, suffered a stroke of paralysis last week at the home of his son in Philadelphia. He has been taken to his winter home in Pinehurst, N. C., where he is comfortably resting.

—At the Hunnewell Club last Wednesday evening, a concert was given by Miss Josephine Knight, soprano; Miss Lilla Ormond, contralto; Mrs. May Shepard Haywood, pianist; Mr. Clarence B. Shirley, tenor, and Mr. Stephen S. Townsend, baritone. The first part of the program was composed of solos and duets, and the second part of the Song Circle, "Flora's Birthday," of old English melodies for four voices.

—The Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union meets to-day with Mrs. George S. Butters of Wesley street. The topics for the afternoon are "Loyal Temperance Legion" (which was admirably treated by Mrs. Rice, National Superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion), and "Social Purity," which was interestingly treated by Mrs. Dr. Abbott, an authority on that subject. After a social hour and vote of appreciation to the speakers, the meeting adjourned. The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sylvester Durgin of Arlington street. The union is making great gains in membership and is taking deep root in the community.

FARLOW PARK.

Actually worth $10,000. As is well known the Farlow Park District is one of the most desirable and select parts of Newton. Property as a rule is not offered for sale. Property values are very high. This substantial 10-room house, with 4 rooms on first floor, several open fires, open plumbing, lavatory, French plate windows and other modern conveniences, is acknowledged by experts to be a good "buy," and I would advise prospective purchasers to look into the matter.

YOUR ATTENTION

Is called to the large list of various properties listed at my offices, both for sale and to let.

TO LET.

Cement suite, 6 rooms and maid's room. Artistically planned, only specimen of this architecture in the suburbs, $41.67.

—At the residence of Mrs. Calvin B. Prescott of Centre street last Monday morning Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke gave her third lecture in the series on "Regnant Queens of England." The special theme was, "Good Queen Anne."

—The annual feast of Ingathering of the Woman's Association of Elliot church will be held in the parlors next Tuesday afternoon. If not otherwise designated, the gifts will be divided equally between the home and foreign missionary departments. The affair is under the general supervision of Mrs. S. P. Buswell, the president and Miss E. F. Wilder and Miss Grace Weston, vice-presidents.

PIANO WANTED.

The Nonantum Day Nursery Association is seriously hampered in its work at Stearns Neighborhood House for lack of a piano.

For the use of the various afternoon and evening clubs and classes, as well as for the children in the nursery, a piano is most necessary.

The loan or gift of a second-hand upright piano would greatly increase the efficiency of the work which is being carried on at the House; and would be warmly appreciated by the Association.

Anybody having a piano for such a purpose, may communicate with Miss Laella Turner, Head-worker, Stearns Neighborhood House, 281 Watertown street, Newton. Telephone, Newton North 711-4.

Sarah S. Wilkins, Clerk.

FOOT BALL.

Union A. C. won its 8th victory of the year, last Saturday. It defeated the Clinton A. C. of Nonantum, thus winning the championship of Newton.

It was a fast game, the first half closing without score. In about the middle of the second half, Murray, Union's center, ran in and blocked a punt.

Stuart who had also got in on the punt grabbed the ball and was off for Clinton's goal, with only Fitzgerald, the Clinton guard, following him.

Fitzgerald ran hard but could not overtake Stuart. Stuart planted the ball between the goal posts and then he kicked the goal. For the rest of the game Union held the Clintons down and won the game, 6 to 0.

This Union team has won 8 games out of nine. The one lost was to Glendale, but they covered up this loss by winning the next Saturday. The third game for the championship of greater Boston will be played at Boyd park, Newton on Saturday, November 21.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns, 363 Centre street, Newton, reports the sale of the Mandell estate, situated at 103 Hunnewell avenue, Newton, to Mr. Robert P. Hains of New York. Mr. Edward D. Conant of Newton was the grantor.

The property consists of a pretentious house on a corner lot of 13,000 square feet of land, the whole being assessed for $10,000. The purchase price was in excess of the taxed valuation. Mr. Hains has purchased for a private residence.

John T. Burns reports also the sale of the estate situated at 584 Centre street, Newton, consisting of a Colonial house, together with over 26,000 square feet of land. This property is assessed for $9,500, of which $4,000 is on the land. The grantor in this transaction was Mrs. B. M. Hallet, and the grantee was J. McIntosh Murray of Jamaica Plain. Mr. Murray has greatly improved the place and is now occupying.

Through the office of John T. Burns, agreements have been signed of the sale of the Barker estate, situated at 40 Newtonville avenue, Newton. This property comprises a frame dwelling with 10,000 square feet of land, the whole being assessed for $10,000. Mrs. Isabelle Barker being the grantor, the name of the purchaser is withheld for the present.

Through the office of John T. Burns two lots of land on agreements have been signed for the sale of two lots of land in Newtonville, one lot situated on Upland road and containing 7,500 square feet of land, the other lot situated on Blithedale road and containing 7,500 square feet of land.

The Chaffin estate are the purchasers in this transaction. The grantor, Miss Emma Sibley, is buying for improvement.

Henry H. Read has leased Mrs. Irving W. Ireland's house, No. 39 Irving street, Newton Centre, to Mrs. Partridge.

The deeds have gone to record showing a sale by Harry F. Gibbs to Geo. H. Collyer, of premises, 44 Cheswick road, comprising of modern natural shingle house and 7,250 square feet of land; all assessed for $5,800. Though the price is not made public, it is known to be far in excess of its assessed value. The sale was negotiated through the office of E. Arthur Robinson.

Through the same office, Inez Curly Noyes of Auburndale has purchased the old Barker estate, 55 Aspen avenue, comprising of frame dwelling house and one acre of land. Mrs. Noyes is making extensive improvements and will occupy it as a residence.

Still another sale negotiated by E. Arthur Robinson is the estate, 96 Webster street, West Newton, from Alice L. Bird Nye to F. W. Woodward. Said premises comprise of a large single house, and 25,403 square feet of land, all assessed for $4,400.

E. Arthur Robinson has rented 30 Oakland avenue to L. H. Hilton of the General Manager's office, B. & A. R. R., who is now occupying same.

Mr. H. H. Gardiner of the Shawmut Coal Co., Boston, is moving into 2 Howe street, having leased same through the office of E. Arthur Robinson.

Mrs. M. B. Redpath of Back Bay has recently leased premises, 24 Ash street, through the office of E. A. Robinson.

Emil Huberstroth of the firm Huberstroth & Son, Boylston street, Boston, and who was married recently will occupy lower suite, 207 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, leased through the office of E. Arthur Robinson.

Yes, Abram, one can readily afford to get married on an income of $12 a week. If he will agree to turn it over to his wife every week.

OVER $60,000 INCREASE

The estimates of receipts and expenditures for 1909 as submitted to the aldermen last Tuesday night by Mayor Hutchinson will not be pleasant reading for our tax payers, as the Mayor approves an increase of over $60,000 in expenditures and there is a deficit of over $70,000 in the estimated receipts, making a total of over $130,000 to be raised by taxation beyond the amount raised this year. On the present valuation, this will mean an increase in the tax rate for 1909 of about two dollars, giving us a rate in excess of $20 per thousand.

The estimates for next year in most of the departments are practically the same as the present year. The Public Buildings Department jumps from $24,110 to $27,960, principally for concreting about the new school houses, the Police Department goes from $78,559 to $80,067.75, mostly for regular increases in salaries, the Fire Department increases from $60,228.50 to $61,651.50, of which $1,100 is for necessary repairs on Engine One. The Street Department shows a saving of $8,700 in the Highway Division, all of it in the New Drain appropriation, the collection of ashes and rubbish costs $16,000, an increase of $1,000, while the new Forestry Department costs $34,824, as against $12,500, the cost of this work for this year. The Almshouse costs $1,000 more than 1908, or $6,000, and the Library increases from $22,560 to $22,985 for one additional assistant. $1,000 is also added to the cost of parks, making $6,000 in all.

The largest increase, of course, comes in the Treasury Department, the interest account going up $17,079.25, to $185,667.15, of which $4,000 is for sewer work and $13,000 for the new Technical School. The serial bond account also increases $23,000, of which $4,000 is for sewer bonds and $19,000 for school bonds.

The School Department receives $294,790, or $3,500 more than for the present year.

The total amount called for is $1,243,590.90, as against $1,181,983.30 appropriated for the present year.

The estimated receipts are placed at $156,320, as compared with $227,285 for the present year, the corporation tax dropping from $150,000 to $70,000 on account of the new law which takes effect next year.

THEATRES

Colonial Theatre—That admirable actor, Otis Skinner, has achieved a very genuine and emphatic success with his new play, "The Honor of the Family," at the beautiful Colonial Theatre in Boston, where he is attracting large and fashionable audiences. Otis Skinner is a great Boston favorite and always faces large and responsive audiences at the Colonial Theatre, and his own personal success in the Balzac play is unequivocal. As the swaggering hero, Philippe Bridau, Mr. Skinner leaves no margin for hyper-criticism. Not only is "The Honor of the Family" admirable in respect to the work of the star, but all of the companion players in the supporting company contribute to an even and harmonious representation. Albert Garcia Andrews, who was for fifteen years prominent in the support of Richard Mansfield, gives a most graphic study of the sexagenarian celibate. Miss Percy Haswell is the leading woman in Mr. Skinner's organization this season. There will be a special Thanksgiving Day Matinee at the Colonial.

Keith's Theatre—A very strong program has been arranged for Thanksgiving week at Keith's, the principal feature being Stella Mayhew. A special extra performance will be given on Thanksgiving morning beginning at ten o'clock and lasting until one, when all the leading features of the week will be given. These morning performances on holidays have become the most popular feature at Keith's, so much that there have been numerous requests to have them continued. The bill for the week will include many other strong features, for instance, Novello's Circus with its great horde of elephants, one of the biggest acts of the kind ever introduced in vaudeville. Others are the Eight Madcaps, Walter Law & Co., in a sketch called, "On the Threshold;" Phillip Brothers, the equilibrist; Lew Wells in a musical monologue and others to be announced.

Boston Theatre—For Thanksgiving week at the Boston Theatre, Mr. Keith has secured an attraction fully in keeping with the season, "Sky Farm." The story of the play is one of intense interest, not only is the love story that runs throughout the play enough to hold the attention from start to finish, but there is a fund of comedy permeating the entire play, that perhaps accounts for its great popularity more than any other feature of it. The stock company season is now at its height, and every week is finding larger and more appreciative audiences at the Boston Theatre. The favorites of last year have won thousands of new friends, while the newcomers, such as Miss Bixley, Dudley Hawley and that sterling actor, Frank Losee, have firmly established themselves in the affections of the Boston audiences. In "Sky Farm" all will have an opportunity to give free play to those qualities that have endeared them to the patrons of this house. One of the most successful weeks of the season is predicted.

Orpheum Theatre—Grace Hazard in her costume novelty "Five Feet Of Comic Opera" is the head-liner at the Orpheum Theatre next week. Felix and Calre those youthful impersonators who have developed into twin stars bring their farcical sketch "Just Kids." Harry Corson Clarke and his company have their latest nonsensical sketch. The Rohrs make their debut in Boston in one of the most sensational and thrilling acts ever put on the stage, and the eight Sunflower girls, all pretty and vivacious and clever, have a splendid song scene. George Wilson, the Millionaire Minstrel, and Probst in whistling impersonations provide a good deal of comedy in the bill. In addition to these, Vasco the Mad Musician and Milt, Alexandra and M. Bertie in their aerial act are retained for a second week.

Grand Opera House—The only and original Joe Welch, so popular with all theatre-goers of this city, is to appear at the Boston Grand Opera House next week, with two performances Thanksgiving Day, in a revival of his most successful characterization of "The Pedler" in the play of that name. This is the first time in the history of a popular price attraction that the public demand has been great enough for a star and play to warrant a specially arranged revival and Manager M. M. Theise, under whose direction Mr. Welch is appearing this season, is well repaid for meeting this demand with an entirely new production in every respect. Matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday, (Thanksgiving Day) and Saturday. Special prices for children will prevail at the Tuesday and Saturday matinees.

The board of aldermen have a serious task this fall in making the appropriations for 1909, as the financial condition of the city does not warrant the increase of $130,000 contemplated
in the estimates submitted this week by the mayor. The loss in the corporation tax is something beyond the control of the city, and must be faced philosophically, however, strongly we may feel about it. The increase in the interest and serial bond accounts for the new Technical High School and for the extermination of moths
and tree pests are also unavoidable.
It thus becomes necessary to put the knife into appropriations for matters which are not classed as necessities, whether or not custom has taught us to believe them to be such. I do not suggest that work be stopped where the failure to continue would not only be a temporary loss, but add to its resumption in the future, for that is not economy. But there are appropriations which could readily be cut out for at least one year, without serious effect on the future. One instance is that of my old hobby, the work of constructing new drains, where $16,000 could easily be saved. This amount is charged directly to the tax payers and is for permanent construction, exactly the same as sewer work, which is paid from the issue of thirty-year bonds. Any drain work actually needed in 1909 could be paid for by the issue of bonds and the tax payers saved this amount. The extension of underground wire service, altho cut to $1,000 is also not a necessity and is a possible saving; $1,000 could also be saved on the item of new street signs, and if half of the usual sidewalk work was allowed for 1909, something like $7,000 more could be cut out of the budget. This work would,
of course, cause considerable remonstrance, but the necessity for less work everywhere is very strong. It is also possible to do even less work in the trimming and removing of trees.
The amount is small, only $2,500, but the city might well go with unpruned trees for one year under the circumstances. In the School Department, a considerable saving is possible, thru a reduction in the amount for Evening Schools, now fixed at $3,000 to $1,000 for special furnishings, $1,000, and the $1,450 for Vacation Schools. I am aware that all of these suggestions will meet with great objection, but the Evening Schools can still be continued, altho for less time than before,
the special furnishings can wait a more favorable time, and the Vacation Schools, so recently taken over by the city, are more a philanthropy than an educational necessity. The list might be lengthened indefinitely, but I have

"Yes, this is Mr. Courtney."

"What have you for flowers for Thanksgiving, and what are the prices?"

"In Roses we have, Brides (white), Bridemaid (pink), Richmond (red),
and the New Killarney, $ .75 to $2.00 per dozen; In Carnations, Beacon
(red), Perfection (white), Enchantress (pink) and Mrs. Patton (variegated), $.50 and $.75 per dozen; In Chrysanthemums, White, Yellow and Pink, $.75 to $2.50 per dozen. We also have all kinds of Ferns for table decorations. Beautiful Cyclamen and Begonia Gloire de Lorraine, in bud and flower; prices $.50—$.75 and $1.00 each."

"Can you deliver my order?"

"Yes, as we deliver in any part of Newton, but we should like your order early in the week if possible."

"Well, I thank you, and will decide and call you up again on Monday or Tuesday."

tried to retain all items which are necessities, and those which it would be false economy to eliminate. The total above suggested amounts to less than $35,000, still leaving nearly $100, 000 additional for the tax payers of 1909 to bear as compared with 1908.
I believe the situation is one of the most critical in the history of Newton.
A $20 tax rate which now faces us would be a blow, from which our real estate interests would suffer for many years, and its deterrent effect on possible new tax payers cannot be estimated.

Interesting Letters

About West Newton's Candidate for School Board

The following letters relative to the recent nomination of Mr. W. L. Garrison, Jr. as the Republican candidate for School Committee in Ward 3, will be of great interest. They are printed without comment.

West Newton, Mass., Nov. 16, 1908.
Harriet A. Eager, Recording Secretary, Newton Equal Suffrage League, 43 Corleton street, Newton, Mass.

Dear Madam:

Your communication of November 12th duly received. I am sorry that your League do not consider posting of notices in Ward 3, of the meeting to discuss Republican candidates for the School Committee from Ward 3, as a proper notice. The notice of this meeting was also in the Boston Herald of that same week—I think the day of the meeting. I had no intention of being unfair or discourteous to your association; on the contrary, I was desirous of having Mrs. Prince as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the School Committee, but upon her declination, it did not seem to me proper to bring her name before the meeting. So anxious was I to assist in getting a woman to serve, that I tried many other ladies, in whose ability to serve as members of the School Board the citizens of Ward 3, at least, had confidence. I refer to Mrs. Ellery Peabody, Mrs. Lawrence Mayo, Mrs. Charles Ames and Mrs. Francis Newhall.

Trusting that you will understand that my motives and intentions were to assist you in this matter, and not to be unfair or discourteous, I am,

Very truly yours,

Charles E. Hatfield.

Letter from Mrs. Prince.

18 Temple street, West Newton, November 12, 1908.
Mr. Charles E. Hatfield, Chairman of Republican Committee.

My dear Mr. Hatfield:

In answer to your question in regard to the School Committee, I wish to say that I have every reason to believe that you acted in good faith. You asked me if I desired to be a candidate and I told you that I didn't, because at present I had not the time to serve adequately on the Committee. Therefore, although much interested in the Newton schools, I ask you not to present my name at the Republican caucus.

Sincerely yours,

LUCINDA W. PRINCE.

FOOT BALL.

The Newton Independent Jrs. defeated the Uhlens of Newton 32 to 0 Saturday, November 14, 1908. The features of the game were the full-back, Kiley, who made a 25 yard gain through center and made five touchdowns, and Martin Donnelly, who made a goal on a quarterback run.

AUBURNDALE STUDIO.

It will be of interest to residents of Newton to know that Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles, the contralto soloist and teacher of voice, Boston, with studio 602 Pierce building, Copley square, will receive pupils at her residence, 33 Hancock street, Auburndale. Mrs. Ruggles is the principal of the Liederkreis school of vocal music.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Last Friday Newton played Brookline on the high school field the game resulting in a tie 0-0. The game was well played throughout, both teams being evenly matched. Newton twice came within ten yards of scoring but each time a penalty stopped their advance. Dunn and Barrows played fine foot ball for Newton while Capt. Willets played a good game for Brookline. This was Newton's first game in the Preparatory League and it will be played on Thanksgiving morning on the high school field at ten o'clock. The field hockey team from Newton played Radcliffe at Cambridge and the game resulted in another tie 4-4. The game was well played all through with Newton having a slight advantage.

Tuesday the annual game of football between the freshmen and sophomores took place on the high school field and resulted in a 5-0 victory for the latter. There was lots of fumbling by both teams and the extra weight of the sophomores finally helped them to win the game. Murphy played well for the freshmen and Childs and Moore played well for the sophomores.

Tuesday the monthly meeting of the German club took place in the assembly of the high school. The meeting was brought together by President Noyes who spoke in German, and the report of the last meeting was also read in German. Two pieces were then given on the piano by Miss Elith Fisher '09 and Mr. Foster Damon '10 respectively. The club was then spoken to in German by Lady Adelbert von Blomberg. After the meeting was adjourned refreshments were served.

To the readers of the GRAPHIC:

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, through its School Suffrage Committee, endeavored this year to put another suitable woman on the School Committee. A vacancy was soon coming in West Newton through the withdrawal of Mr. Robert S. Gorman. Mr. George A. Walton began assisting us last summer by writing to Mrs. John T. Prince, asking if her name might be used as a possible candidate. After her return from California, in September she considered the matter and consented to stand if there should be a general call of men and women for her services. For the benefit of the Federation her qualifications were investigated and they were found to be wonderfully good; her training, experience in teaching and in social service work, knowledge of and interest in the Newton public schools could be equaled by few, either men or women in our city.

The Ward and City Committee was communicated with, and they were told of the unusual opportunity which was theirs. This committee replied that other names had been suggested, and to satisfy all a meeting would be called to which representatives of the various interested persons and organizations would be asked. They hoped this method would be satisfactory to the Federation of Women's Clubs. We replied that it would, and that we should also like representatives of the Equal Suffrage League and the W. C. T. U. invited to the meeting.

Soon after the national election we found that this meeting had been held in West Newton without notifying us. Notice for it was merely given by posters put up about West Newton. Mrs. Prince, having seen some reluctance of the leading politicians to her candidacy, remarked to one of them that perhaps her name would better be withdrawn. Although the Federation had told them in writing that she would stand, they apparently wished to conclude that she would not stand. If they made an attempt to secure other women they are hereby informed that any other woman would not be satisfactory to the Federation this year. We were looking for the best possible candidate, and we felt that in Mrs. Prince we had secured that. We do not doubt that Mr. William Lloyd Garrison, the nominee, will prove an estimable member of our School Board; but with deep regret we say that we fear now that the opportunity of securing an unusually fine candidate is gone for this year.

Mrs. Prince's interest in the schools will always continue and she will stand ready to serve another year if the call comes. Let good citizens remember this! One little slip makes such a difference to a city. If Mr. and Mrs. Walton were alive and well would this have occurred? Grateful for having had for so many years such public-spirited citizens as Mr. and Mrs. Walton, let us strive to emulate their example and not let their good work come to an end.

SUSAN A. WHITING,
Chairman School Suffrage Committee of Newton Federation.
Newton, Nov. 10, 1908.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

A very successful ladies' night was held November 15th. 150 men and women tried to crowd into the small hall and never was the need for a new building with a suitable auditorium more clearly shown.

H. W. Gibson, State Secretary for boys' work, will address the young men's meeting next Sunday, subject, "Wait a Minute."

The annual Thanksgiving food sale of the auxiliary will be held on November 21st, after 2.30 P. M. Cakes, pies, bread, jellies, pickles, candy and many other Thanksgiving dainties will be for sale at reasonable prices.

The debate "Shall Women Have Equal Suffrage With Men?" brought out the full membership of the club and many visitors. The debate was well contested but the audience decided that the negative won.

The following men are playing in the handicap pool tournament: Webster, Jacobs, Morton, Wharton, Tuttle, Ward, Brown, Howard, Ringrose and Moore.

"BAR HAVEN"

The drama "Bar Haven" was presented by ladies' auxiliary of division 22, A. O. H., in The Players theatre at West Newton, Monday evening before a large audience.

In the cast were James J. Callan, Joseph E. Sullivan, Charles Quigley, James A. O'Donnell, Frank J. Healey, William P. Eustis, Miss Margaret C. Kehoe, Mrs. James A. O'Donnell, Miss Margaret L. Murphy, Miss Roae H. Campbell and Miss Jennie M. Burns.

Vocal selections were given between the acts by Miss Della O'Halloran and Miss Gertrude C. Moriarty. The performance was repeated Tuesday evening. The committee of arrangements were Miss Fannie Healey, Miss Christina Cannon, Miss Elizabeth Blake, Miss Mary Drennan, Miss Mary Blakeney, Miss Mary Murphy, Miss Lillian Bryson and Miss Mary Wallace.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Woodland Golf Club was held Wednesday evening, Nov. 12th, and reports showed the club is in a much more prosperous condition than at the same time last year. There are about 270 members and only 25 more are needed to fill the membership to the established limit. The following officers were elected: President, A. C. Burnett; vice-president, C. A. Sibley; treasurer, L. B. Folsom; secretary, H. S. Tripp; directors, the above officers and G. C. Almsworth, W. M. Campbell, T. W. Gilson, J. G. Knowles, W. M. Noble, A. J. Wellington, G. G. Williams, J. A. MacLeod.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS

Jeremiah Sullivan, aged 38, was arrested by Serg. Chase Tuesday evening on a charge of assault and battery. Sullivan's wife was the complainant. She declared that he had smashed her new sewing machine with an ax, and when she ran out of a room threw the ax at her head. The weapon struck the door, she said.

Sullivan had been locked up in police headquarters only a few hours when his wife sent a relative to bail him out. She reluctantly told the story of the affair in court Wednesday morning. Judge Kennedy found Sullivan guilty and continued the case till February 27 for final disposition, placing him in charge of the probation officer. Sullivan said he had not been feeling well and that he had taken a few drinks to cheer himself up. This, he said, caused him to start on the rampage.

FIREWORKS EXPLODED

One woman and eight men who were filling firecrackers received a bad scare about 3 Monday afternoon when an explosion occurred in one of the small wooden buildings of the Masten & Wells fireworks manufacturing company off Needham street at Newton Upper Falls.

In some unknown way a pan of composition used in filling the firecrackers became ignited. The employees rushed out of the building. The last one had passed through the door there occurred an explosion which was heard for some distance. The building caught fire, but in response to an alarm from box 623 the firemen quickly drowned the flames. The explosion knocked out several windows. The damage, it was stated, was not heavy. It is believed that the employees got out of the building in the nick of time to escape being seriously injured.

LODGES

Verdale Lodge, N. E. O. P., held social meeting in Society hall, Auburndale, last Monday evening. After a business session, vocal solos were given by Mr. David Johnston, and piano solos by Mr. William O'Donnell.

Boynton Lodge, U. O. of I. O. O. L., held a Sewing Circle in Kingsbury hall, Waltham, last Wednesday afternoon. A supper was served, followed by a social in the evening.

If you are in need of a good encyclopedia, you will be interested in an announcement made to-day by Charles E. Lauriat Company of the purchase of a limited number of sets of the well-known "Universal Encyclopedia" that they are offering at about half price. This is a successor to "Johnson's Encyclopedia," but a new book, quite up-to-date in every way.

PROBATE COURT.

Notice is hereby given that the will of the late of Newton, in said County of Middlesex, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Maria E. Wadsworth who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the seventh day of December, A. D. 1908, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. McINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and eight.

BELL'S SEASONING

40 Years ago the best Seasoning to delicately flavor Dressings for Poultry, Game, Meats, Fish, etc. today 40 Years better.

MEAT OR TURKEY DRESSING (equally good when baked and served separately). Toast 7 or 8 slices of white bread. Place in a deep dish, adding butter size of an egg. Cover with hot water to moisten and make bread right consistency. Add an even tablespoon of Bell's Seasoning, an even teaspoon salt, and 4 slices of salt pork, fried to a crisp, and chopped fine. When well mixed, stir in 1 or 2 raw eggs. Bake in small pan.
Note:—The above dressing may be improved, to some taste, by adding chopped nuts of any kind, chestnuts, peanuts, walnuts, etc. Oysters also give a fine flavor.
Remember, a 10c. can of Bell's Seasoning is sufficient to flavor the dressing for 100 lbs. of meat or poultry, and the 25c. can 300 lbs.
For Delicious Sausages, Flavor with Bell's Sausage Seasoning.
25c. and 50c. Cans; 6, 12 and 25 lb. Boxes; 50, 75 and 100 lb. Drums.

HENRY F. MILLER PLAYER-PIANO

Combines in one instrument the features that have made all Henry F. Miller pianos famous for nearly half a century together with a pneumatic self-playing action that enables any one to perform the finest piano compositions at once without previous practice and without fatigue.

It stands SUPREME among player-pianos.

Its effects are MUSICAL—not mechanical.

It IMPROVES rather than deteriorates with usage.

TO OUR OLD PATRONS

The demand upon us for slightly used Henry F. Miller pianos is at all times so great we are enabled thereby to offer our old patrons very liberal allowances for their pianos in exchange for new HENRY F. MILLER PLAYER-PIANOS.

The man who sits down to wait for fortune, too late finds that the fields are weeded around the other way with a more masterful man.

What more appropriate as a Christmas present for anyone? It encourages reading and good reading is an education, and it will fit practically any purse—few units for a small purse, more for a larger one. You can add units as wanted. Better call now and investigate before the Xmas rush.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug listed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL.

Twenty-Ninth Year.

The work of the Newton Hospital is each year increasing, and our citizens appreciate its value more and more. During this past year has been added one of the most complete hospital buildings in the country. The Founders Memorial, the gift of one of the hospital's best friends, the late Mellen Bray.

We welcome the additions to the plant, but they do mean larger running expenses, and this year, a larger deficit. Great credit is due our citizens for their generosity on the Hospital Sundays of the past, but the very success of the work demands greater financial aid from all our citizens. Hospital Sunday is the Sunday before Thanksgiving each year. You are asked to increase your contribution this year to such an amount as you feel that you are justified in giving to this good work. You are also requested to interest your friends, so that the deficit wiped out, if possible. Due credit will be given to your Church, whether your gift is handed to the officer of said Church, or forwarded in the enclosed addressed envelope to the Treasurer of the Hospital. You are requested to visit the Hospital. You will be proud of it, and satisfied that your money is being wisely expended.

Hospital Sunday, November 22, 1908.

"THE BUTLER BOYS."

The Butler Boys' Club of the Centenary church held a competitive drill in the chapel of the church on Wednesday evening of last week. It was the first appearance of the members in the new uniforms and the parents of the boys were the invited guests and evidently were delighted. The drill was under command of Lt. Paul Spaulding and Wm. Schelmitz was officer of the guard. The judges were three military experts not connected with the club in any way. The candidates for promotion drilled in squads of four and promotions were as follows: Wendell Greenleaf, Robert Stowell, and Ralph Davis to be sergeants.

MUNICIPAL PRIMARIES

The primaries for the coming city election were held Tuesday of this week, and in the usual absence of contests were slimly attended, even less so than in former years, only 293 votes being cast by both parties. The only apology for a contest was the effort of R. C. Whiting of Auburndale for a place on the Republican ward committee. He was defeated by a vote of 21 to 16.

The primaries were held from noon until nine in the evening, and 235 Republican votes were cast and 58 Democratic.

In selecting furs about which your personal knowledge is necessarily limited it is always safest to purchase from a responsible dealer who has a reputation earned by years of testing to maintain, and who does not desire and cannot afford to treat you unfairly.

For nearly fifty years we have been established in Boston as manufacturers of High Grade Furs, collecting the skins from all over the world and making them into every conceivable kind of fur attire.

This long experience in satisfying the needs of the most discriminating persons, has taught us how to give the largest possible value for every dollar expended with us.

All of our garments are fashioned after the latest Paris and London styles and are guaranteed in every respect to give perfect satisfaction, and to be superior to other fur garments when price, quality and workmanship are considered.

This is why shrewd fur buyers prefer to deal with a long established house whose entire business is centered in one location and whose workrooms are always open to inspection.

All we ask is for you to call and then decide where to purchase.

Wade hall was crowded with an enthusiastic audience on Tuesday evening, to listen to the three-act comedy, "Miss Fearless and Co." The entertainment was arranged by the teachers of Wade school and the proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the school.

DEATH VALLEY.

The Burning, Blasting Winds That Sweep This Arid Waste.

The prevailing winds in Death valley are from the west. Though originating in the Pacific ocean and saturated with humidity in traveling the intermediate distance, they are intercepted by the lofty peaks of four ranges of mountains, which absorb all of their moisture, so that by the time they reach the valley all humidity has disappeared. The blasts are as if heated in a fiery furnace, and no living thing can survive the intense heat. Even birds indigenous to the region die.

It is in the months of greatest heat that the sandstorms of Death valley are most deadly. They rage with intense fury, obliterating the landscape and dimming the light of the sun, withering the scanty vegetation and covering the trails deep in powdered dust. At all times the aspect of the valley is superlatively desolate. No spot on earth surpasses it in aridity or Tophet-like heat.

During the heated term an hour without water means death. Meat becomes putrid in an hour. Eggs are cooked in the blistering sand. Water is only palatable by means of large, porous, earthenware jars, common to all hot countries, suspended in drifts and reduced in temperature by means of the rapid evaporation of the moisture from the outside.

Wedding Ring Mottoes.

The custom of inscribing within the hoop of the betrothal or wedding ring a motto or "posy," as it was called, was formerly very prevalent. Hamlet asks, "Is this a prologue or the posy of a ring?" Some posies were very tender and beautiful. Among the more appropriate posies may be mentioned "Deux corps, un coeur," "My heart and I until I die" and "I am yours" from sixteenth century rings. "Love ever," "Love true, 'tis joy," and "Time lessenseth not my love" from the seventeenth century. "Love me," "My soul will keep thine company to heaven" and "En ma Adolite je finirai ma vie" from the eighteenth. In the ring which "Florizel" (afterward George IV.) gave to the hapless Perdita were the words "Je change qu'en mourant—Unalterable to my Perdita through life."

THE OLD CIRCUS POSTER.

Preposterous Language With Which the Show Was Described.

The grandiloquent extravagance of language of the old time circus poster is illustrated by this reproduction, which is given verbatim:

"There will be presented a resplendent series of sublime, moral, interesting, instructive, amusing and wonderful scenes which would appear entirely too fabulous if expressed in an advertisement. They must be seen to be duly appreciated. These great displays will unfold in all the loveliness and beauty of enchantment, carrying the minds of the bewildered or spellbound spectators off on the gentle wings of the imagination to such pageantry as they might dream of after reading a few pages of 'Arabian Nights' Entertainments.' Words are really wanting to give adequate expression. Webster's unabridged falls most signally in language to fully portray a semblance of the reality. Zoonomy may be learned at this great college in a single evening. Here the visitor will see splendid specimens of the zygodyctylous race that live upon the earth or float and poise upon the wings of gold and silver plume in the cerulean arch, and in reference to these the corps of superintendents in courtly dress will elucidate the peculiarities of each with guarded suavity."

THE TWO ROMEO.

Mrs. Ciddons' Opinion of David Garrick and Spranger Barry.

David Garrick and Spranger Barry were both playing Romeo at the same time in London. Barry played it at Drury Lane on the Monday, and Garrick played it the next night at Covent Garden, and the town was divided as to which was the greater Romeo—in fact, there was quite a great excitement about it, and they acted it upon such different lines and with such marvellously different conceptions that the people argued the case as to which Shakespeare intended. The fact is that Shakespeare intended it to be acted well, and if one man's temperament suited it best to act in that way it would do for another temperament the other way.

So they asked Mrs. Siddons, who was the Juliet alternately with the same Romeo, which she considered better of the two, and she said:

"It is difficult to say. They are both wonderfully great, but I will tell you how they impress me in the balcony scene. In the balcony scene Garrick seems so eager, so intense and so full of fire and spirit that I'm afraid he'll jump up in the balcony to me, and Barry is so lovely and fascinating that I'm afraid I shall have to jump down from the balcony to him."

The Relationship.

"You say, madam," said the bespectacled lawyer to the woman in the witness box, "that the defendant is a sort of relation of yours. Will you please explain what you mean by that—just how you are related to the defendant?"

The witness beamed upon the court and replied:

"Well, it's just like this. His first wife's cousin and my second husband's first wife's aunt married brothers named Jones, and they were cousins to my mother's aunt. Then, again, his grandfather on his mother's side and my grandfather on my mother's side were second cousins, and his step-mother married my husband's step-father after his father and my mother died, and his brother Joe and my husband's brother Harry married twin sisters. I ain't never figured out just how close related we are, but I've always looked on 'im as a sort of cousin."

"Quite so," answered the lawyer. "Your explanations are perfectly satisfactory."

Forgetful.

An eminent painter was once asked if he thought art students did well to go to Europe to study. He said that undoubtedly the atmosphere was more artistic in Europe than anywhere else, but that Paris as a city to study and work in was overrated.

To illustrate his meaning he said that a certain rich man's son after three years in Paris wrote home to his father:

"Dear Father—I have made up my mind to set to work. Please let me know at your earliest convenience whether it was painting, architecture or music I came to Paris to study."

Humility.

It is a curious fact of human nature that humility draws forth from the world almost as much admiration as courage. As in the case of courage, it is almost impossible wholly to condemn a character in which we see it, and without it the greatest virtues leave us cold. If every good word which the Pharisee said of himself were proved true we should still dislike him. We even dislike his modern and far less offensive descendant, the prig.—London Spectator.

A Straight Tip.

Customer—Quick shave, please, Barber—Close, sir? Customer—See here, what business is it of yours whether I'm close or not? I'll tell you one thing, young man—I don't tip, if that's what you want to know.—Puck.

His Fears Realized.

"My heart is in my mouth. I am afraid to hear you answer." "You may well be. Mr. Dollboy," retorted Ethel. "I never could marry a man whose heart was not in the right place."

If a man is worth knowing at all he is worth knowing well.—Alexander Smith.

ADROITLY TURNED.

It Was a Small Hole, but the Englishman Crawled Out.

"I was watching a number of young Englishmen shooting at a target recently while I was on the other side," remarked an American army officer, "and at my elbow was a pompous Britisher of the old school, who, after shaking his head impatiently at the frequent misses that were made, at length said to me: 'That only goes to show how the young men of England are degenerating. All this sort of thing reflects on the British nation.'"

"It certainly is mighty poor shooting," I agreed.

"At that the old gentleman stared up and exclaimed: 'I say! Perhaps you can do better, sir?'"

"If I couldn't shoot better than that, I'd be ashamed to eat breakfast," I answered.

"Thereupon I was handed a rifle and told to show what I could do. I shot, and the first time I missed the target completely, so the laugh was on me, but before they could laugh twice I plugged the bullseye six times in rapid succession. At this the old gentleman was a trifle disconcerted, but he complimented me by saying: 'Really, now, you can shoot a bit, can't you? I say, there's nothing like a Yankee marksman with an English gun, is there, old chap?'"—Los Angeles Times.

A GREAT COMBINATION.

When Husband, Wife and Mother-in-law Co-operate.

Shortly after his marriage, which took place in 1880, John Burns, the British labor leader, settled down as a journeyman engineer in Battersea and twenty years after confessed that he was the first engineer to make with his own hands an electric tram car in Great Britain. In those days, however, people did not believe that electric traction was possible, and Burns had to take the dynamo and tram to the Crystal Palace and run the latter round the grounds for six months before people could be induced to believe in the novelty.

But the people were so nervous that, although the charge was only sixpence, none of them would venture in the newfangled invention. Then Burns struck with a brilliant idea. He said to his wife, "You have got to come down to the palace three times a week and get into the first electric tram car as a decoy duck for the others." This was only temporarily successful. So Burns brought along his mother-in-law, "and," said the energetic labor leader when relating the incident, "when a husband, a wife and a mother-in-law co-operate success is assured."—London Tit-Bits.

Towers.

The patient architect had just succeeded in getting Mrs. Drippingold to decide between the charms of renaissance, classic and Queen Anne for the plans of her magnificent new country house.

"The only details I ain't goin' to leave to your discretion," said the wealthy lady, "is the matter of towers. I want plenty of towers that folks can see for a long way off when they're ridin' by."

"But what kind of towers do you want?" inquired the unfortunate architect—"Norman, Gothic?"

Mrs. Drippingold closed the English novel of high life on which her soul had been feeding.

"Why, ancestral towers, of course."—Puck.

Friendly Advice.

A very matter of fact Scotchwoman called to see a neighbor, an elderly woman, who had been ailing for some time.

"And how do you find yourself today, Janet?" was the greeting. "Ah, Martha, I'm very bad. This cold, damp weather 'll be the end of me. I'll be a dead woman before very long."

"Hoots, toots, woman! You've been saying that any time these last twenty years. I've no patience with you. I'll tell you what it is. You want firmness of mind. Fix a day for your dying—and stick to it."

Had Poor Sight.

New Boy (rather inquisitive)—What did the other lad leave for, sir?

Master—For having defective eyesight at times, my boy.

New Boy—Why, sir, I have seen him since. Apparently, then, his eyesight was all right. It seems rather curious, sir.

Master—Well, my boy, at various times when taking money from customers he could not see the till.—London Answers.

Time to Stop.

Mrs. Benham—Henry, I am more than glad that you don't drink now, but how did you come to leave off?

Benham—You remember the last time your mother was here? Mrs. Benham—Yes, Benham—Well, one night while she was here I came home in pretty bad shape and saw three of her. That settled it.

An Easy Task.

"Johnny, I will give you a quarter if you can get me a lock of your sister's hair."

"Gimme 4 bits, an' I'll git you do whole bunch. I know where she hangs it nights."—Houston Post.

The Outcome.

The Doctor—Now that you are going to school, Johnny, perhaps you can tell me what happens when an irresistible force strikes an immovable object."

"People send for you, doctor."—Life.

As money increases the love of it increases.—German Proverb.

STUPID SHEEP.

They Are About the Most Senseless of All Animals.

A Colorado ranchman declares that no animal that walks is as big a fool as a sheep.

"We have to watch them every minute, and if vigilance is relaxed for an instant the entire flock is likely to practically commit suicide. In handling most animals some degree of self-help or intelligence can be relied on to aid the owner in saving their lives, but sheep seem to set deliberately to work to kill themselves."

"If caught in a storm on the plains they will drift before the wind and die of cold and exposure rather than move a hundred yards to windward to obtain shelter in their corral. To drive sheep against the wind is absolutely impossible. I once lost over 1,000 head because I could not drive them to a corral not 200 feet away."

"In the corral they are still more foolish. If a storm comes up they all move 'down wind' until stopped by the fence. Then commenced the proceeding—so much dreaded by sheepmen known as 'piling.' The sheep will climb over each other's backs until they are heaped up ten feet high. Of course all those at the bottom are smothered. Not one has sense enough to seek shelter under the lee of the fence, as a horse or dog would do."

"Again, if a sheep gets into a quicksand its fate teaches nothing to those that come immediately after, but the whole flock will follow its leader to destruction. No more exasperatingly stupid animal than a sheep walks."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A CHINESE STORY.

The Noted Liar Who Had a Fairly Competent Spouse.

A noted liar once told a friend that he had at home three precious things—a bullock which could run 500 miles a day, a fowl which could at the beginning of each watch, day and night, and a dog that could read books. The friend intimated that he would lose no time in seeing these marvels with his own eyes. The man did not expect this, as his house was somewhat distant, so he went home and told his wife that he had got caught at last and that tomorrow the man would arrive and he would be disgraced.

"Never mind," said the spouse. "Leave that to me. It will be all right. Only you must keep out of sight."

Next morning the visitor arrived, and being met by the mistress, asked where her husband was.

"He has gone to Pekin," she replied. "When will he be back?"

"In eight or nine days."

"Why, how can he be so quick?"

"He has gone off on our fast bullock and so can do it easily."

"I hear you have also a wonderful fowl," said the visitor. And, behold, as he was speaking a small cock crew.

"That's it," said the wife. "He crows at the beginning of each watch and also when a visitor arrives."

"I would also like to see the learned dog," he said.

"Ah," said she, "I am sorry; but you see, we are very poor, and so he keeps a school in the city."—Scrap Book.

Left Him in Doubt.

A certain young artist in New York who is on terms of comparative intimacy with the janitor of the apartment house wherein he maintains his studio is in some doubt whether the said janitor is a cynic or something of an art critic, or both.

"One day while doing a bit of repair work in the studio," says the painter, "Mike scrutinized a bit of my work with ominous solemnity. When I indicated a portrait of myself the blow fell. Said I:

"The paint on this is badly cracked, which spoils the likeness."

"With no more expression in his countenance than is to be seen in the face of a representative of Buddha Mike replied:

Training Canaries.

In the canary breeding establishments of Germany only the male birds are valued, because the females never sing. The method of training the birds to sing is to put them in a room where there is an automatic whistle, which they all strive to imitate. The breeder listens to the efforts of the birds and picks out the most apt pupils, which are then placed in another room for further instruction. These are the best singers and ultimately fetch high prices.

Lived Up to His Belief.

Hobo—No, madam, I am neither a Socialist nor an anarchist. I am a passive altruist. Housekeeper—And what in the name of common sense is that? Hobo—I believe in being helped all I can.—Boston Transcript.

Cautious.

Prospective Best Man—Got the marriage license yet? Prospective Bridegroom—No; I'm not going to get that until the last thing. She may go back on me.—Chicago Tribune.

The Modern Husband.

THE PRISON BIRD.

Tyrannical and Jealous Feathered Beauty of Africa.

The peculiarity of the prison bird, a feathered beauty of Africa, is that he is the most tyrannical and jealous of husbands, imprisoning his mate throughout her nesting time. Livingstone watched the bird's habits while in Monpour, and in his subsequent observations referred to the nest as a prison and the female bird as a slave.

The nest is built in the hollow of a tree through an opening in the bark. As soon as it is completed the mother bird enters carefully and fearfully and settles down in it. Then papa walls up the opening, leaving only just space enough for air and food to pass through. He keeps faithful guard and brings food at regular intervals without fail. The female thrives under her enforced retirement. But if the prison bird is killed or in any other way prevented from fulfilling his duties the mother and her little ones must die of starvation, for she cannot free herself from bondage.

Normally the imprisonment lasts until the chicks are old enough to fly. Then the male bird destroys the barrier with his beak and liberates his family. "It is charming," writes Livingstone, "to see the joy with which the little prisoners greet the light and the unknown world."

THE NORMAN "OYEZ."

A Legacy of William the Conqueror to the Courts.

Everybody who has ever been in a United States courtroom knows that when the judge walks out of his chambers and ascends the bench the court crier drones out:

"Oyez, oyez, oyez, the honorable court of the (whatever district it may be) is now in session."

Not many persons, however, realize that the crier says "oyez, oyez, oyez," instead of "harken, harken, harken," because of a chance visit that William the Conqueror made to an English court almost 900 years ago.

William had overrun England, seized the government and placed himself at its head. Happening to enter a courtroom, he heard the crier call the assemblage to order in English. William rebuked him and on the spot decreed that the business of all English courts should be transacted in Norman French, his native tongue. Afterward the courts went back to English, but to this day "oyez, oyez, oyez," clings to court customs wherever the English language is spoken as a reminder of the great Norman who whipped King Harold in the battle of Hastings.—Scrap Book.

One of Life's Tragedies.

He had expected a tender embrace from his sweetheart, but her greeting of him was cold. He could not understand it.

"Darling," he exclaimed in agony. "What is the matter?"

But she remained silent, her lips tightly closed, and motioned him from her.

He fell upon his knees.

"My love," he cried, "tell me what I have done to offend you? I swear I have done nothing wrong! I confess I kissed the Simpson girl last night at the party, but on my oath I—I thought she was you."

Her lips closed even tighter, but she uttered not a syllable, and, in despair at her unbending demeanor, he fled from the place, he knew not whither.

Would you know, oh, reader, the reason of the conduct by which a woman blighted two young lives? 'Twas simply this: She had left her false teeth in the bathroom.

Probably She Meant It.

Lucile, a carefully brought up little girl of five years, returned from her first party in great glee.

"It was a good girl, mamma," she announced and talked nice all the time."

"Did you remember to say something pleasant to Mrs. Townsend just before leaving?" her mother asked.

"Oh, yes, I did," was the enthusiastic reply. "I smiled and said: 'I enjoyed myself, Mrs. Townsend. I had a lot better dinner than I thought I'd have.'"—Delineator.

One on the Judge.

"Here you are," said the judge to the colored prisoner, "complaining that you can't get along with one wife, and yet Solomon had hundreds of 'em."

"Yes, yer honor," was the reply, "but you must rickollect dat de last testimony be give in wuz dat dey wuz aivantly an' vexation of spirit!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Still Holds Good.

"There was a time," exclaimed young Spenders, who had gone through a fortune, "when people used to say I had more money than brains. They can't say it now."

"No?" queried the caustic cad. "No. I'm down to my last penny."

"Ah, but you have the penny."—Philadelphia Press.

Awkward.

A pretty schoolteacher, noticing one of her little charges idle, said sharply: "John, the devil always finds something for idle hands to do. Come up here and let me give you some work."—Judge's Library.

A New Sensation.

Mrs. Bullion—I wish I knew something to do that would provide me with an absolutely new sensation. Mr. Bullion—Go out and pay cash for something.—Life.

Windmills.

Windmills were invented and used by the Saracens.

THE PARACHUTE.

Leonardo da Vinci Was the First One to Suggest It.

Credible accounts exist of an English Benedictine monk, Oliver of Malmsbury, in the eleventh century having tried to fly by precipitating himself from the height of a tower with the assistance of wings attached to his arms and his feet. It is said that, having gone along a little way, he fell and broke his legs. He attributed his accident to failure to provide his apparatus with a tail, which would have helped preserve his equilibrium and made his descent a gentler one.

In the sixteenth century Leonardo da Vinci first demonstrated that a bird, which is heavier than the air, sustains itself, advances in the air, "by rendering the fluid denser where it passes than where it does not pass." In order to fly it has to fix its point of support on the air. Its wings in the descending stroke exert a pressure from above down, the reaction of which from below up forces the center of gravity of its body to ascend at each instant to the height at which the bird wishes to maintain it. Some sketches which have come down to us prove that Leonardo occupied himself, like Oliver of Malmsbury, with giving man the power to fly by the assistance of wings suitably fixed to the body.

We owe to Leonardo also the invention of the parachute, which he described in the following terms: "If a man had a pavilion each side of which was fifteen braces wide and twelve braces high he might cast himself from any height whatever without fear of danger." It may be said, too, of Leonardo da Vinci that he was the first to suggest the idea of the screw propeller.

A SAUCY DUCHESS.

Her Audacious Fight For Gay and His "Beggars' Opera."

When the "Beggars' Opera," by Gay, was produced in 1728 it took positively by storm. The king still clung to Handel, but the nobility, with the Duchess of Queensberry among them, flocked rapturously to the "Newgate" pastoral. The "Beggars' Opera" had a run of sixty-two nights, unprecedented in those days, and as one result of its success Handel became bankrupt. Suddenly there came an order from the lord chancellor to stop the new piece. Why, is not exactly known unless it was because the prime minister considered himself to be too faithfully represented therein. However that may have been, the theater had to be closed, whereupon the Duchess of Queensberry took up Gay's cause and vehemently championed it.

Very busy was she in those days, driving about in her coach asking for gu

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

The public is invited to be present at the Hunnewell clubhouse Wednesday evening, December 2nd, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. John H. Bonner of Leicester, England, is to give his celebrated lecture on The Evils of Compulsory Vaccination.

In England, the birthplace of inoculation and vaccination, a government investigation of more than seven years, with further and recent discussion, has now resulted in enacting statutes abolishing compulsory vaccination. This has been accomplished largely through Mr. Bonner's forceful and accurate presentation of the facts,
before his fellow countrymen.

Mr. Bonner has commanded the active sympathy and support of William E. Gladstone, Sir Robert Peel, John Bright, Herbert Spencer, Lord Salisbury, Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, Florence Nightingale, and many others.

Mr. Bonner's attitude and accomplishment have already attracted the respectful interest of the press and of leading citizens, with invitations to address many clubs and organizations in this part of our country.

In view of the importance now generally attributed to the subject of vaccination, and especially the question of its compulsory enforcement,
we would urge the public to hear what Mr. Bonner has to say, even though they may favor compulsory vaccination.

Ladies are especially invited, as this is a mothers' question.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

At the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on Nov. 30, Miss Elizabeth C. Northrup will speak on "New Life in Old Empires."

The regular meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club was held with Mrs. G. W. Ball of Walnut street on Nov. 23. The subjects considered were: "The American Colonies," and "Salem Witchcraft." There were also readings from Longfellow's "Miles Standish." The next meeting will be a departure from the usual custom of the club, it being an evening lecture at eight o'clock by Mr. Leon Vincent on "Franklin as a Man of Letters," at the home of Mrs. Griswold.

Mrs. George F. Lowell will entertain the Newton members of the American Peace Society at her home, 525 Walnut street, Newtonville, on Wednesday, December second, at eight o'clock. There will be short addresses by Rev. William E. Huntington, president of Boston University, Judge Robert F. Raymond, Rev.
George T. Smart, and Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood.

The Social Science Club will hold its monthly business meeting at the Hunnewell Club on December second.
Mr. Charles I. Bucknam, the newly appointed Forest Commissioner, will be present and address the club on conditions in Newton during the latter part of the morning.

The Parliamentary Law and Debating Club will meet with Mrs. John Leavitt of Washington street, Hunnewell Hill, on Thursday afternoon, December 3.

The Newtonville Guild at its meeting on December first will be addressed by Mr. Henry Warren Poor on

Waban.

Mrs. Mary J. Strong, the wife of William C. Strong, died at her home on Windsor road, on Monday, after an illness of two months, following an attack of apoplexy. She was 82 years of age, and a native of Boston. The funeral was held from her late residence Wednesday afternoon and the burial was at the Newton cemetery.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

After the recess, Alderman Day presented the report of the Finance Committee on the receipts and expenses for 1909.

Alderman Day said there are seven reductions, totalling $7,300, as follows: Underground service reduced, $500;
street signs, $500; trimming and removing trees, $500; trees, $300; maintenance new drains and culverts, $3,500; collection of ashes, $1,000;
parks and squares, $1,000. Then we have increased the amount for schools about $8,342 above the Mayor's recommendation, cutting down the department's request $5,000. The grand total, therefore, the Committee recommend is $1,245,482.90, or a sum $1,892
in excess of the Mayor's approval.

That sum is less than the department estimates in the sum of $15,980. In making these deductions the majority of the Committee had in mind such scheme as would warrant them in granting to the School Committee a sum part way between the Mayor's recommendation and the department estimate. In doing so we acted on profound convictions, after hearing and giving very exhaustive hearings on the subject that in the merit system that the department adopted,
there was such value to our educational department that we could not take action working against it. The Committee believe the School Department was efficient, and economical, that we had in our superintendent, a man of marked ability, of great devotion to his work. I will add that in the doing away with the system of charging the departments for water the committee were nearly equally divided, four being in favor of preserving the present system. I might say here, perhaps partly more for myself, that that change might be postponed for a year or two, and let the department continue on a little longer showing as well as it has been, before we make any change.

Alderman Burr: In regard to this school budget, I do not propose tonight to dissent from the majority, I want to say that when we finally did come to vote on this subject I made a motion that the total figures recommended by His Honor the Mayor be approved and that the details be left to the School Committee. Mine was merely one added to the myriad of cases of Caesar vs. Rome. The School Committee was my Caesar, I am sure I loved the School Committee as much as Brutus loved Caesar, but my Rome was merely the prosaic, unromantic desire to attain every nerve to strike down the many headed hydra, the tax rate.

Alderman Gray then presented an amendment reducing the budget by $5,965, and saying: "The effect of this motion is that the several departments shall not be charged for water up to the amount consumed by them in 1908, but water consumed in excess of that amount shall be paid for by the departments out of their appropriations."

Alderman Bosson believed in the necessity of cutting the expenses wherever we could do it without jeopardizing the affairs of the different departments. That this item of water is important in the tax levy, as the department is earning a surplus and it should pay back to the tax payers
for the many years and for the hundreds of thousands of dollars which

A Few Facts About Hood's Milk

You can practice economy without sacrificing quality in providing for the table by reducing the amount of animal foods and substituting HOOD'S MILK, which furnishes all the nutrition necessary for health and strength at a far less cost.

HOOD'S MILK is tested for its palatability by an approved hygienic method. It is also tested daily for wholesomeness and richness in our Chemical and Bacteriological Laboratory. Its handling is kept under constant surveillance by medical experts. Do not accept a substitute. Insist on getting what you ask for and be sure to ask for HOOD'S MILK. It is PURE CLEAN and SAFE, and has stood the test of sixty-two years. Criticisms and suggestions will be gratefully received.

DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY

The 38th anniversary of the Clafin Guard and the 14th anniversary of the Clafin Guard Veteran Association was held Tuesday evening at the United States Hotel, in charge of the indefatigable secretary, Lieut. Col. Robert Ball Edes.

The president of the Veteran Association, Mr. Edward I. Leland, presided, and at the preliminary business meeting, reports were read and these officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. Lewis R. Speare; vice-presidents, Lieut. F. W. Turner, Mr. Reuben Forknall; secretary, Lt. Col. Edes; treasurer, Lt. Col. W. E. Lombard. President Leland presided at the post prandial exercises and seated at the head table with him were Senator-elect H. C. Mulligan, Capt. G. F. Gullford, Capt. V. P. Henry, 14th N. Y. Vols., Vice Commander W. W. Montgomery, G. A. R., Lieut. Turner, Lt. Col. G. H. Daniels, Lt. Col. Edes, and Mr. L. R. Speare.

President Leland referred pleasantly to the work of Col. Edes and to the presence of Major F. P. Barnes, the father of the organization, before introducing Judge Mulligan. The new senator spoke of the unveiling of the Sheridan statue this week in Washington and rendered "Sheridan's Ride" in excellent style. Capt. Gullford said he represented a live, active organization of men, with full membership and enthusiastic for the future. He had strong hopes that Newton would receive one of the three armories to be erected in 1909. Col. Edes then presented the active company with the silver loving cup recently won in the shooting contest, which Capt. Gullford accepted with the remark that if the Veterans ever won it again they would have to shoot better than ever before.

Capt. Henry was received with enthusiasm, and referring to himself as a native of North Carolina, spoke of the great good the Spanish-American war had done in cementing the union of all the states.

Commander Montgomery told what the G. A. R. badge meant to him, and emphasized the cardinal principles of the order, Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty. President-elect Speare thanked the Association for the honor of the election and the pleasure these meetings gave in the way of renewing old acquaintances. He invited the Association to be his guests at a summer outing next year at Point Shirley and promised them a good time. The invitation was accepted and with a vote of thanks to President Leland, the meeting adjourned.

Among others present were Maj. F. P. Barnes, Representative Joseph Abbott, Hon. H. E. Bothfield, Capt. A. C. Walworth, Capt. E. M. Springer, Lieut. Trudo, Lieut. W. E. Glover, Major A. C. Warren, Harold Daniels, William Warren, Reuben Forknall, A. G. Muldoon, John W. Hahn, Chas. A. Balcom, H. J. McCammon and F. A. Barrows.

THE 1909 BUDGET

The report of the Finance Committee as presented to the aldermen last Monday evening and as adopted by that body without change, increases the amounts approved by the mayor by $1,892 and with its total of $1,245,182.90 is the largest annual appropriation order ever passed in this city.

The largest item is that for interest, serial bonds and sinking funds, which amounts to $350,667.15, not including over $92,000 for water debt which is not charged to the tax levy. Next in size stands the school department with $304,682, which includes $700 paid for rent for school buildings. This is the largest amount ever appropriated for school purposes in the city and is $5,000 less than the school committee desired. Heretofore the items for the school department have been given in detail, but the Finance Committee this year recommend a jump sum, to be used in the discretion of the school committee. The Street Department comes next, with $226,948, of which the largest sums are $60,000 for maintenance of streets, $52,500 for street lights, $12,500 for new drains and culverts, $10,500 for maintenance of drains and culverts, $17,000 for street watering, $14,000 for sidewalks, $12,000 for sewer maintenance, $15,000 for removal of ashes. The Forestry Department is given $34,324, of which $30,000 is for work and $2,000 for trimming trees. The Charity Department has $18,860, and with other charity work, makes a total of $25,460. Parks and squares receive $5,000, the Engineering Department costs $11,938, the Health Department, $20,830, the Fire Department $61,651.50, the Police Department $80,667.75, and Public Buildings $27,960.

The report of the Finance Committee was not unanimous, as Aldermen Mason, Holmes and Miller dissent from the majority in charging nearly $6,000 to the tax levy, for the use of water by city departments, and Aldermen Burr and Miller opposed the item for schools.

HEARING

Boston, November 21, 1908.

To the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton.

Gentlemen:—
The West End Street Railway Company, by the Boston Elevated Railway Company, its Attorney, respectfully petitions for leave to construct, maintain and use alterations of its existing locations as follows:—

The southerly curved track on Tremont Street west of Waverley Avenue.

The northeasterly curved track at Tremont and Park Streets.

The northeasterly curved track at Park and Washington Streets.

And the northerly track in Washington Street from west of the Boston and Albany Railroad bridge through Nonantum Square to Centre Street; all substantially as shown by red lines on plan of A. L. Plimpton, Civil Engineer, dated November 10, 1908, and filed herewith, and all in substitution for existing tracks as shown by dotted black lines on the aforesaid plan; together with all necessary curves, crossovers, switches and connections.

Also that permission be given said Company to establish and maintain the overhead single trolley electric system of motive power in the operation of its cars on said new tracks, and to erect, maintain and use the necessary poles, wires, appliances and electrical appliances and apparatus and to make the underground and surface alterations of the streets necessary for that purpose.

The above petition is filed in substitution for a similar petition dated November 10, 1908, which it is desired to withdraw.

WEST END STREET RAILWAY COMPANY,
By Boston Elevated Railway Company, its Attorney,
By Wm. A. Bancroft, President.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Nov. 23, 1908.
Upon the foregoing petition it is ordered by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton that a hearing be had thereon on Monday, the 14th day of Dec. 1908 at 7.45 o'clock p.m., before said Board in the City Hall, in that part of said Newton called West Newton, and that notice of the time and place of such hearing be given by publication of the foregoing petition and this order thereon fourteen days at least before the day of said hearing in the following newspaper published in said City of Newton viz, Newton Graphic.
By order of the Board,
T. F. KINGSBURY, Clerk.

Class A. X.C. No. 223538.

A good team is Whitley and Bell in a good comedy act, singing, talking and dancing. The Illustrated Songs are the latest and are sung by Ira Kessner. He sings his latest success, "O'Brien Has No Place to Go."

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The regular meeting of the School Committee was held Wednesday evening with every member present.

The annual report of the committee as prepared by the chairman was adopted as the report of the board, and 2,500 copies ordered printed.

The following order was presented by Mr. Gorham:

Whereas, the appropriation granted by the board of aldermen for expenses of the School Department for the year 1909, makes it necessary to save $5,000 on the close estimates of the budget as made up by the School Department, it is hereby ordered that the superintendent be instructed to utilize the services of the teacher thus made unnecessary.

FOOTBALL

Over fourteen hundred persons attended the football game yesterday morning on the High School Athletic field at Newtonville to witness the final game in the preparatory league between Newton High and Brookline High, both teams being tied for championship. The weather was fine, but the field was in fairly good condition and the cheering was continuous. Newton won the game by a goal from the field in the second half, the only score made by either side. Newton got the ball to Brookline's 15-yard line the first half, but lost the ball on downs. In the second half the ball was worked up to the 12-yard line and Dunne kicked a beautiful goal from placement. Brookline nearly scored a few minutes later, but Newton recovered the ball and the game ended with the ball in the centre of the field. Dunne was carried from the field on the shoulders of his classmates.

In selecting furs about which your personal knowledge is necessarily limited it is always safest to purchase from a responsible dealer who has a reputation earned by years of testing to maintain, and who does not desire and cannot afford to treat you unfairly.
For nearly fifty years we have been established in Boston as manufacturers of High Grade Furs, collecting the skins from all over the world and making them into every conceivable kind of fur attire.
This long experience in satisfying the needs of the most discriminating persons, has taught us how to give the largest possible value for every dollar expended with us.
All of our garments are fashioned after the latest Paris and London styles and are guaranteed in every respect to give perfect satisfaction, and to be superior to other fur garments when price, quality and workmanship are considered.
This is why shrewd buyers prefer to deal with a long established house whose entire business is centered in one location and whose workrooms are always open to inspection.
All we ask is for you to call and then decide where to purchase.

Board of Aldermen

The most important business of the year was transacted Monday night at the regular meeting of the aldermen, when nearly a million and a quarter of dollars were appropriated for the expenses for the year 1909. The Finance committee has held several long meetings to consider the matter at which the other members of the board were invited to be present, so that the whole subject was generally understood. Nevertheless, a recess was held for an hour during the session at which another hearing was given the Water Commissioner and the mayor on the only question which was raised during the evening.

Hearings were held on petitions of the Gas Light Co. for locations on Churchill avenue, of the Telephone Co. for pole locations on Kaposia street, and for attachments on North and Farwell streets, and of the Western Union Telegraph Co. for attachments on Washington street, none of which aroused opposition, and the last petition was subsequently granted, the others being referred.

Communications were received from the mayor requesting the passage of an order for muzzling all dogs for three months, for the transfer of certain small amounts in appropriations for Fire and Health departments, and for $1,500 additional for care of Contagious stock, all of which were subsequently granted.

The Street Commissioner reported completion of work of constructing Kaposia street, Chaske avenue and Winona street, under the betterment act.

The bond of Alfred M. Russell as constable with the American Surety Co. as surety for $3,000 was approved.

Petitions of William J. Hannon to move building from Washington street to Wildwood avenue, of John T. Burns for renewal of auctioneer license were granted. Other petitions received were of W. M. Thompson et al for sewer in Avalon road, of Walter Burns for wagon license and liquor transportation permit, of Ella O'Hara for 1 pool table on Elliot street, of the call men of the Fire Department for increase of pay to $225 per year, of F. H. Stuart et al for laying out of Gardner street under betterment act, of Reuben Forknal et al for laying out of Los Angeles street under the betterment act, of Mabel E. Goode for sewer in Kenrick street and of Eliza Philbrick for damage on account of lowering Paul brook.

On petitions of the Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Glenwood avenue and Ruthven road, of the Telephone Co. for location of a pole on Walker street, and attachments on Walnut street, and of the West End Street Railway Co. for certain changes in tracks on Tremont, Park and Washington streets, hearings were ordered for December 14th.

The following apportionments of betterment assessments were approved. Margaret Smith, Orris street. Sylvanus G. Morse, two lots, Edward E. Fernald, two lots, on Washburn avenue.

Edward E. Fernald, F. Louisa Fernald, two lots, Wm. H. Roeder and Vora E. Tainter, Newell road. On recommendation of committees, $800 was authorized for a water main on Cranberry street, a tree ordered removed on High street, a sewer authorized in Ballard street, $28,207.33 granted for city expenses to Dec. 31, and certain advances authorized for the Street, Police and Charity appropriations.

A wagon license and liquor transportation permit were granted James J. Maguire, locations for poles on Prince street, Kimball terrace, and Eddy street granted the Gas Light Co. and attachments on Auburn street and Rowe street and a relocation on Beacon street granted the Telephone Co. A hearing on December 14 was also ordered on construction of a concrete sidewalk on Melrose street, and leave to withdraw was given the Gas Light Co. for poles on Berwick road. The matter of sidewalks on Beacon street was referred to the Mayor for action. $1,842.50 was also voted for additional interest on sewer bonds.

When the order for muzzling dogs was first introduced, Alderman Avery said it was an important matter to owners of dogs, and should be discussed and understood before it was passed. Alderman Day said he happened to know that the mayor was convinced that immediate action was necessary and Alderman Cabot said that Dr. Boutelle, the Inspector of Animals seems to think it was an immediate necessity. Alderman Gray said that everyone did not read the GRAPHIC and thought that additional notice should be given besides publication. The matter was tabled and following a conference with the mayor the order was unanimously adopted.

CITY HALL

The Executive Committee of the Civic Federation, Mr. Charles E. Kelsey, president, and including prominent citizens from Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban, West Newton, Newtonville and Auburndale, held a conference with Mayor Hutchinson and Forest Commissioner Bucknam, last Tuesday evening, relative to the work and plans of the city in exterminating the gypsy moths. It was learned that over $150,000 will be expended in this city next year by the United States, the Commonwealth and the city in this work and the opinion of the Committee was expressed in this resolution:—"That the Executive Committee of the Civic Federation heartily approves of the work of the city and the plans of the city, and pledges its hearty co-operation." The Committee also voted to suggest to each Improvement Society in the Federation that a moth committee of three members be appointed at once, to co-operate with the Forest Commissioner, and that each Society be requested to hold a public meeting about March 20, 1909, to be addressed by the Forest Commissioner, who will show how each Society can assist in the work.

The Dept. of Agriculture of the United States has completed plans to exterminate the gypsy moth in the Oak Hill district of Newton and will soon have 15 expert men at work. Newton is the first city in the country to thus receive aid from the national government and the territory is such that it is expected the men will be kept at work for a long time. The Commonwealth has assigned Mr. Charles McIsaac as a gypsy moth inspector in the city of Newton. Mr. McIsaac will co-operate with Commissioner Bucknam and will be of great assistance in the work as outlined.

Don't Take Chances Buy Underwear Right

If there is one article of a Man's or Woman's apparel that ought to be right—particularly during the Winter Season—it's UNDERWEAR. Experiments are costly, both from a standpoint of money and health. Underwear to be right, must first be made of good fabrics, must be cut on lines to fit, and shaped to give freedom of movement to the body. Nearly every Man or Woman has a fairly definite idea of what he or she wants. The greatest problem is where to get it and be sure of SATISFACTION. This is the store that solves that problem for you, and solves it well. Come here today or tomorrow and select from our Great Stock of Underwear for Men, Women and Children.

Our method of supplying your requirements in Furs has made The Dunlap-Cooke Canadian Furs famous as the Furs of Quality. The Canadian Climate produces the finest furs known to commerce, because of the long, cold winters. The fur-bearing animals of Canada are provided by nature with a coat that is warmer, finer and more lustrous than temperate climates can produce.

The Duty on Manufactured Canadian Furs is 35%—We receive our Canadian Furs in the Raw State Duty Free. We have our own fur stores in Canadian centres; here we receive the raw furs from the trappers. We are the only Canadian Fur concern with a store in the United States. In this respect the strength of our position is unequalled. When you buy direct from us you save middlemen's profits and secure skins taken in prime season from the best sections, because we know where and when to buy the best that Canada offers.

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

THEATRES

Hollis Street Theatre—On Monday, November 30, Henry B. Harris will bring to the Hollis Street Theatre, Charles Klein's latest play, "The Third Degree." From the very first line in the play, the interest in "The Third Degree" is aroused and never permitted to sag until after the final curtain. Seldom in the history of theatricals has a play been written which embodies so many desirable features as is the case in this, Mr. Klein's newest creation. The tensely of the situation begins with the discovery by the police of the body of Robert Underwood in his art store and the arrest of Howard Jeffries, Jr., who is found on the premises sleeping off a drunken stupor. Until the final scene in the play in a powerful dramatic climax where evidence is adduced which clearly proves the boy innocent of the crime, is there a let-up in the rapid action of the drama. Among those prominent in the cast are Edmund Breese, Helen Ware, Wallace Eddling, Catherine Connolly, John Flood and Ralph Delmore. The production is staged in a most handsome manner, and is complete in every detail. Unquestionably, "The Third Degree" should meet with the same fervent reception as did its predecessor, "The Lion and the Mouse."

Kelth's Theatre—For an all-round bill with every act a feature, it would be difficult to surpass that announced for Kelth's Theatre, the week of November 30th. One of the principals will be Rock and Fulton, who will introduce the hypnotic dance which has become one of the biggest novelties in recent years. Also on this bill are Marcel's Living Art Studies, unquestionably the most remarkable series of tableaux, representing famous pictures, statues and bas reliefs that has ever been given to the public. The Six Musical Cuttys are known as the strongest musical team on the stage. Agnes Scott and Horace Wright are always welcome in that daintiest and prettiest of all singing sketches, entitled "The Wall Between." Belle Blanche is also on the bill with her imitations. Sam J. Cusis will be seen in a comedy sketch. There are also Robert's Animals, Ryan and White, the singing and dancing team, Marcello and others.

Orpheum Theatre—Four individual star acts are only part of the features on the Orpheum Theatre's bill for next week. Direct from their record breaking run in London come the Zancigals, "Two Souls with but a single thought" in their marvellous demonstrations of thought transmission which have puzzled investigators of five continents. So clever are they that a reward of One Hundred dollars is offered to any person whose name Mr. Zancig fails to transmit correctly. For her debut in Boston comes the famous Italian protean actress, Mlle. Patima Miris who presents plays with eight to twelve characters and plays the roles herself. "A Night in Egypt" with Alice Raymond and her players, one of the prettiest of musical spectacles is brought here for the first time, also the Four Stagnoles, the greatest acrobats in Australia. Sweden is represented by the Holman Brothers, experts on the horizontal bar. Dainty Grace Hazard in "Five Feet of Comedy Opera" is retained for a second week. Sargent and Pledge, eccentricities, McKissick and Shadney, and Miss Emilie Frassinotti, the beautiful violinist who awoke artistic Boston to life a few weeks ago, are also on the big variety bill.

Park Theatre—Of all the charming and dainty musical shows which Charles Frohman has given the public since he entered the field of theatrical management, none has made a stronger bid for popularity along these same lines than "Miss Hook of Holland." It is at once a quaint and beautiful appeal to the eye through its fascinating Dutch scenes and it wows the ear in the most caressing manner by means of over twenty light, bright and breezy songs, every one of which can be listened to with pleasure, and all of which leave an exquisite impression. But in addition to the merits of the music, even a stronger feature was the comic acting of the familiar Frank Daniels. He comes ambling on the stage in a grotesque make-up, as the prosperous Dutchman in Holland, who owns a distillery and has a pretty daughter as dear to him as his money or the receipt for the manufacture of "Cream of the Sky," out of which his fortune has grown. Boston audiences have seen and laughed at Daniels for twenty years in various make-ups, but the applause and laughter created by "Hook" were proof that they enjoyed him as much as ever. Mr. Frohman has staged "Hook of Holland" in the most attractive manner possible. Its scenes are simply beautiful and the dress of not only the principals but of every member of the company is true to the locale in every detail. A splendid company of seventy-five fun-makers interpret the fun and humor of the piece.

Boston Theatre—One of the most remarkable successes will be presented at the Boston Theatre the week of November 30th, in "A Message from Mars." This play, although written by an American, Richard Ganthony, had its first production in England, where it ran for over five hundred nights, with Charles Hawtreys in the leading part. Mr. Hawtreys came to this country and repeated this tremendous success, playing in Boston at the Old Boston Museum. Since then the play whenever put on has attracted widespread attention. It is even better now than it was then, principally for the story it tells and the remarkable stage effects produced when the messenger from Mars appears.

BOOK REVIEWS

The Man Who Ended War
This is one of the most fascinating books of the year, with an unusual plot, barring the inevitable love story. A novel which one dislikes to leave until the last word has been read.

This story deals with a man who, single-handed and inspired by a dread purpose, destroyed battleship after battleship, by a new and mysterious invention. It is furthermore a swinging tale of how two strong American young men and one charming American girl were caught in the strange web which moved mighty nations to resort to peace.

The scenes change from Washington to New York, to London, to Folkestone, on the English Channel, and to the dunes beyond Scheveningen and back again to America, while the reader's interest in the remarkable book deepens with each succeeding chapter.

The movement of the tale, its play of light and shade, its carefully graded construction, its unusual motive, its clarified scientific treatment and development, the skillful way in which the actual identity of the "man" is hidden,—all these things should make this one of the books of the year.

INSURANCE

Do you realize that the average loss by fire in U. S. is about $500,000 a day. Right here in Massachusetts over 8000 dwellings were either destroyed or damaged during 1907, costing Insurance Companies $1,180,952.
